Senate Backs Medicare Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate and House now have approved a historic program of broad protection against medical costs for 19 million older Americans and boosting all Social Security checks.

The Senate passage by a 68-21 vote late Friday sent the legislation to conference with the House. That branch approved its version 313 to 115 April 8. Now the differences must be adjusted.

Democratic leaders said today they hoped the conference could begin next Wednesday and that final agreement could be reached on the measure by the end of the week.

But the long battle to enact a medicare bill, as it is often called, ended in effect with the Senate vote since both versions contain the same essential features. These include:

1. A basic health plan financed under Social Security covering hospital stays, posthospital nursing home care, outpatient hospital diagnostic services, and home health visits for persons 65 or over.

2. A voluntary, supplemental insurance plan covering doctors' fees for services at home, in the office or the hospital, as well as other services not included in the basic plan. The premium would be $3 a month.

3. A seven per cent increase, retroactive to Jan. 1, in all present Social Security benefits for retired persons, families and disabled persons.

The estimated $7 billion approximate yearly cost of the programs would be largely financed through increased Social Security taxes on both employers and employes. The programs would start next year.

The higher Social Security payments will go to 20 million beneficiaries now on the rolls. About 19 million Americans are 65 or over and qualify for the health plan.

At his Texas ranch, President Johnson said, "This is a great day for older Americans. And it's a great day for America. Older citizens will no longer have to fear that illness will wipe out their savings, eat up their income, and destroy lifelong hope of dignity and independence." He said it was another stone in an enduring monument of the greatness of the late President John F. Kennedy, who also pushed for its passage.

Many senators said they regarded the bill as the most important they had voted on or

Beaver Falls Man Sought In Stabbing

Aliquippa Victim Dies En Route To Hospital There

BEAVER — A Beaver Falls man is being sought by Aliquippa police and Beaver County detectives today as a prime suspect in the fatal stabbing of an Aliquippa man at 6:20 a.m.

The victim, Robert Vail, 26, of 308 3rd Ave., Aliquippa, died en route from the Aliquippa Police Station, where he was taken by a motorist, to the Aliquippa Hospital.

Vail flagged down a truck driven by Isaac Steals of Vanport shortly after the stabbing and Steals drove him to the police station.

Steals reported he had seen a second man in the area when he stopped to pick up Vail. Police have questioned four or five suspects. However, the prime suspect still is being sought.

The suspect's name has not been released. However, he is described as of medium complexion, about 20 years old, short, stocky build, with a pencil-thin moustache and a scar on the lip.

The Beaver County coroner, Dr. John Colavincenzo, said Vail had a puncture wound of the left chest, caused by a thin stiletto knife, which entered between two ribs and struck a heart muscle. He said death occurred within about 30 minutes of the stabbing.

$400 In Cash Taken At Beaver Market

BEAVER — About $400 in cash was taken from the Beaver Supermarket on 3rd St. over night when the market was entered through a rear door and five cash registers were rifled.

Beaver police and county detectives are investigating.

Pryor Cites New Law In His Decision

Pinball Machines Also Are Ordered Returned In Action

Forty - five slot machines seized June 12 by Sheriff Joe Rodak's deputies in eight fraternal and veterans' organizations in Hancock County must be returned to the owners, Judge Ralph Pryor ruled Friday in Hancock County Circuit Court.

The judge, in making the decision, upheld motions of defense counsel that all search and seizure warrants drawn in the office of Squire John D. Herron of New Cumberland were illegally executed, due to new laws of criminal procedure effective June 3 regarding the validity of the issuance and execution of search warrants.

The revisions require that copies of the warrant and also receipts for seized properties be given the owners by the raiders. The defense counsel argued that this was not done in any of the cases.

In addition to the slot machines, nine pinball machines taken June 20 in four Weirton taverns must be returned, in accordance with the ruling.

The eight clubs entered, the individuals representing the various clubs and the number of slot machines confiscated were listed as follows: American Legion Post 121 of Chester, Ed Huff, nine machines; VFW Post 6450 of Chester, Eugene Stackhouse, nine machines; Lawrenceville American Legion Post 163, Charles Huffman, five machines; Lawrenceville fire department, Jaqueenica Beaver, four machines.

U.S. Jets Down 2 MIG's In Viet

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Phantom jets bagged two Communist MIGs while other American planes flew their deepest bombing mission in North Viet Nam today, U.S. military officials reported.

The Phantoms downed the enemy planes — identified as Korean War vintage MIG17s — 40 miles south of Hanoi while U.S. Air Force planes destroyed two bridges and five buildings at an ammunition depot 85 miles northwest of Hanoi, a U.S. spokesman said.

It brought the number of MIG kills in the air war to five.

U.S. Navy Phantom jets, armed with heat-seeking air-to-air missiles, shot down two Communist MIGs near Thanh Hoa about 90 miles south of Hanoi on June 17. Three days later four propeller-driven U.S. Navy Skyraiders shot down one of two attacking MIGs in a five-minute battle 60 miles south of Hanoi.

In announcing the new bags, the U.S. spokesman said the nationality of the two MIG fighters was not determined but they were presumed to be North Vietnamese.

The U.S. spokesman said the Phantoms were on "combat air patrol" in support of the day's air strikes on northern installations.

He said there were no other details of the air clash.

Four other U.S. Air Force F105 jets dropped 750,000 leaflets over Nam Dinh, 40 miles southwest of Hanoi, informants said.

Government naval junk forces were active off the coast of South Viet Nam. A U.S. spokesman said a junk unit captured a Viet Cong junk loaded with three and one-half tons of rice and Communist documents about 290 miles northeast of Saigon.

The junk was spotted about 35 miles north of Qui Nhon in an area strongly controlled by the Viet Cong. The junk reportedly headed for shore and tried to evade the coastal patrol boats. Five men reportedly jumped out and began firing at the government junk which fired back. Three Viet Cong were reported killed and two wounded.

American sources reported that as many as 100 Vietnamese civilians were killed when caught in the fire of battle of An Ho Island Friday.

This estimated toll far exceeded the official count of casualties among combatants.

The clash began early Friday when Viet Cong raiders overran a Vietnamese naval headquarters on the island 345 miles northeast of Saigon. The guerrillas killed 16 Vietnamese sailors, six militiamen and two U.S. Navy advisers.

A U.S. Marine rescue force, the first American ground contingent to be used in direct reaction against a Viet Cong attack, retook the base. Three Marines were killed and 13 wounded.

Sargus Protests 'Quickie Amendment'

Ohio House Vote Slated Next Week On Committee-Revised 'Strip' Bill

By WILLIAM VANCE
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — A battle-scarred bill to toughen Ohio's strip mine laws has been cleared for a vote next week in the House, where further debate over new amendments appears certain.

The bill, authored by Sen. Edmund A. Sargus (D-Belmont), was amended extensively in the House Mines and Natural Resources Committee Friday before receiving a unanimous recommendation for passage.

COMMITTEE Chairman Clarence L. Wetzel (R-Columbiana) hailed the revised bill as one "which will completely modernize and strengthen Ohio's strip mine reclamation law."

Sargus, who agrees the bill will strengthen the law, is less enthusiastic, however.

He is protesting what he calls a "crippling, quickie amendment" which struck from the bill authority of the chief of the forestry-reclamation division to deny strip mining licenses if he had probable cause to believe the area could not be reclaimed.

Sargus has been fighting for nearly six months to preserve that section as, bit by bit, other parts of the once-stringent bill were diluted by coal industry amendments.

He said he will attempt to have the bill amended when it appears on the House floor next Wednesday or Thursday in an effort to restore the "probably cause" provision.

IF THE BILL passes without further amendments, it may be tossed into a house - Senate conference committee for compromise.

The bill was reported back to the full House committee Thursday after a series of closed subcommittee sessions. Wetzel delayed final committee action until Friday so that the amendments could be printed.

The subcommittee has recommended reducing the proposed performance bond from $325 to $275 an acre, a revision Wetzel had insisted was necessary to keep from driving small mine operators out of business.

But the full committee, over Wetzel's objections, compromised with $300, a figure that had been suggested by Sargus and Rep. Ralph Fisher, R-Wayne. The present bond is $220.

Other major amendments increased the original license fee from $50 to $75 and the annual acreage fee from $10 to $15.

SARGUS SAID he was generally pleased with the subcommittee's work on the bill, but was angered by the "probably cause" deletion.

That amendment, which was not recommended by the subcommittee, would permit the division chief to deny licenses only in areas where siltation damage could not be prevented.

The committee refused Sargus' request for reconsideration of the amendment.

"This amendment was offered with little or no testimony," said Sargus. "Other members of the

House Sends Vote Bill To Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — A tough voting rights bill aimed at clearing the way to the polls for Negroes in the South has won solid House approval, but still faces obstacles.

The House, after a stirring appeal by one of its Southern members for support of the bill, passed it by an overwhelming 333-85 vote Friday night, setting up a clash with the Senate over poll taxes.

The differences in the two versions now must be reconciled in a Senate-House conference.

Twenty-three members from the states of the old Confederacy voted for the bill, which aims a heavy blow at Southern centers of resistance to Negro voting.

Under both the House and Senate versions, literacy tests would be suspended in Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Georgia, South Carolina, Virginia and parts of North Carolina, and federal registrars could be used to sign up Negroes to vote.

It would apply to those states because less than 50 per cent of their adult populations voted or were registered in the 1964 elections.

The bills part company over poll taxes, however. The House bill would outlaw them, a step the Senate refused to take, with the administration leading the fight against such a move. Now the two versions will have to be reconciled before a bill can be enacted.

PT. PLEASANT (AP) — West Virginia's Route 2, the highway which follows the Ohio River from Huntington through the Northern Panhandle, should be part of the Interstate highway system, Gov. Hulett Smith believes.

"This is the first Interstate proposal we plan to present to the Bureau of Public Roads as new mileage allocations become available," the governor said.

Smith said that to clear up "some misconceptions," his administration believes the road is too important to become part of the Appalachian highway network.

In a statement read to a meeting of officials here Friday night, the governor said improvements now planned by the state for the highway "are considerably better than current design standards for Appalachian development highways."

Under state plans, the highway would be improved to four lanes in two sections, north of

'Dark Days' Predicted

Johnson Signals Larger U.S. Operation For Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson—predicting darker days to come in Viet Nam—has signaled a new surge in the U.S. military buildup which could reach 100,000 men by late summer.

This would be a boost of about 25,000 over the currently scheduled level.

"We expect it will get worse before it gets better," Johnson told a news conference in assessing the course of the war which has involved the United States ever more deeply.

He spoke against the background of a Communist offensive which has brought more South Vietnamese people under Red guerrilla control in the past six months, isolated parts of the country, slashed roads and rail lines.

"Our manpower needs there are increasing and will continue to do so," the President said.

A previously announced reinforcement up to 75,000 American troops will be completed very shortly, Johnson said.

"There will be others that will be required. Whatever is required I am sure will be supplied."

At the Pentagon, informed authorities said it is impossible now to say just how far the U.S. commitment will climb.

They said the extent of the increases probably will hinge on Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's findings after he leads a top level mission to South Viet Nam next week. This will be McNamara's first on-the-spot look at the situation in Viet Nam since May 1964. The newly named ambassador to Saigon, Henry Cabot Lodge, will go with him.

Most officials used the term "substantial" in discussing the scope of the impending new buildup.

Some key officers suggested the U.S. force might vault to 100,000—more than four times what it was six months ago.

A tentative plan, which called for more than 129,000 U.S.

CORFU, Greece (AP) — Joy swept Greece today as the world's youngest queen, 18-year-old Anne-Marie, gave birth to her first child, a girl weighing 9 pounds, 11 ounces.

A 21-gun salute and pealing church bells announced that the throne of Greece had an heir. Radio Athens broadcast the news throughout the nation.

King Constantine, the 25-year-old father, was with his Danish-born wife as the baby was delivered in a specially prepared room in the summer palace on the Ionian island of Corfu.

Immediately after the birth at about 7 a.m., Constantine telephoned Premier George Papandreaou in Athens. Then he announced the news to a crowd which had gathered outside during the night.

An elderly East End woman was admitted early this morning to City Hospital with injuries received when she was knocked down by a purse snatcher, who fled with her purse containing more than $100.

Margaret Burchett, 72, of 1235 St. George St., was admitted for X-rays of the right shoulder, according to police.

The woman and Mrs. Virginia Duncan of the same address were walking south on Mulberry St., about halfway between Locust St. and the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks, about 12:50 a. m., police were told.

Two men came up behind them, knocked both down and grabbed Mrs. Burchett's purse and fled.

Hotfoot Sam Ends Street Dancing After Complaint

MILFORD, Del. (AP) — After 12 years as a sidewalk song and dance man, Hotfoot Sam has given up his harmonica and bottle cap tops and is calling it quits.

"I was trying to make an honest dollar, and I make a little noise, and someone complained," said Hotfoot, whose real name is Charles Jackson.

Hotfoot, a Negro, is in his early 60s.

Some residents of Milford, a town of about 4,000 in southern Delaware, complained they thought Hotfoot was noisy or a bad influence on children. Although there's no ordinance against sidewalk dancing, police relayed the complaints to Hotfoot. He decided to give up his musical sideline.

"We're so glad he's off Milford's streets," said Helen A. Mitchell, one of those who complained. She said some residents "didn't like the way he runs around, making a monkey of himself and clowning all the time."

"He's bad for the children," Mrs. Mitchell said. "He always had a bunch of children around."

On summer weekends, Hotfoot stuck bottle caps to the bottoms of his feet, donned a colorful patch jacket and performed on street corners for coins spectators threw to him.

A previously announced reinforcement up to 75,000 American troops will be completed very shortly, Johnson said.

"There will be others that will be required. Whatever is required I am sure will be supplied."

At the Pentagon, informed authorities said it is impossible now to say just how far the U.S. commitment will climb.

They said the extent of the increases probably will hinge on Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's findings after he leads a top level mission to South Viet Nam next week. This will be McNamara's first on-the-spot look at the situation in Viet Nam since May 1964. The newly named ambassador to Saigon, Henry Cabot Lodge, will go with him.

Most officials used the term "substantial" in discussing the scope of the impending new buildup.

Some key officers suggested the U.S. force might vault to 100,000—more than four times what it was six months ago.

A tentative plan, which called for more than 129,000 U.S.

Greeks Hail Birth Of Girl To Queen, 18

CORFU, Greece (AP) — Joy swept Greece today as the world's youngest queen, 18-year-old Anne-Marie, gave birth to her first child, a girl weighing 9 pounds, 11 ounces.

A 21-gun salute and pealing church bells announced that the throne of Greece had an heir. Radio Athens broadcast the news throughout the nation.

King Constantine, the 25-year-old father, was with his Danish-born wife as the baby was delivered in a specially prepared room in the summer palace on the Ionian island of Corfu.

Immediately after the birth at about 7 a.m., Constantine telephoned Premier George Papandreaou in Athens. Then he announced the news to a crowd which had gathered outside during the night.

Area Spared; Storm Strikes At Cleveland

East Liverpool and the district enjoyed some welcome rain and some not so welcome wind, but escaped the "severe weather" which had been forecast earlier Friday afternoon by the Weather Bureau at Columbus.

Almost an inch of badly-needed precipitation was reported in some areas. At the Stratton dam eight-tenths of an inch was recorded, while the Montgomery Locks at Industry reported .66 inch.

Clear and cooler weather has been predicted for tonight, with sunny and mild forecast for Sunday.

A blinding rainstorm swept northeastern Ohio, with a 77-

Purse Holding $100 Snatched In East End

An elderly East End woman was admitted early this morning to City Hospital with injuries received when she was knocked down by a purse snatcher, who fled with her purse containing more than $100.

Margaret Burchett, 72, of 1235 St. George St., was admitted for X-rays of the right shoulder, according to police.

The woman and Mrs. Virginia Duncan of the same address were walking south on Mulberry St., about halfway between Locust St. and the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks, about 12:50 a.m., police were told.

Two men came up behind them, knocked both down and grabbed Mrs. Burchett's purse and fled.

Hotfoot Sam Ends Street Dancing After Complaint

MILFORD, Del. (AP) — After 12 years as a sidewalk song and dance man, Hotfoot Sam has given up his harmonica and bottle cap tops and is calling it quits.

"I was trying to make an honest dollar, and I make a little noise, and someone complained," said Hotfoot, whose real name is Charles Jackson.

Hotfoot, a Negro, is in his early 60s.

Some residents of Milford, a town of about 4,000 in southern Delaware, complained they thought Hotfoot was noisy or a bad influence on children. Although there's no ordinance against sidewalk dancing, police relayed the complaints to Hotfoot. He decided to give up his musical sideline.

"We're so glad he's off Milford's streets," said Helen A. Mitchell, one of those who complained. She said some residents "didn't like the way he runs around, making a monkey of himself and clowning all the time."

"He's bad for the children," Mrs. Mitchell said. "He always had a bunch of children around."

On summer weekends, Hotfoot stuck bottle caps to the bottoms of his feet, donned a colorful patch jacket and performed on street corners for coins spectators threw to him.

Aiken Claims Lodge Slated For Rusk Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George D. Aiken suggested today that President Johnson may be grooming Hnery Cabot Lodge as a successor to Dean Rusk as secretary of state.

Aiken, senior Senate Republican in point of service and a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, commented on President Johnson's appointment of Lodge to succeed Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor as ambassador to South Viet Nam:

"It looks to me like a refresher course for Lodge before taking over as secretary of state."

The Vermont senator's view found little support, however, among his colleagues. Sens. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Vance Hartke, D-Ind., said in separate interviews they doubt the President has any such future course in mind.

State Department sources said they believe the secretary's relations with Johnson and McGeorge Bundy, presidential adviser on security matters, are extremely good at this time.

When Rusk was asked at election time last year to stay on as secretary of state he reportedly agreed with the stipulation that he would not remain indefinitely. But he has given no sign recently that he intends to quit. If Rusk should bow out, Bundy, once a Republican, is regarded as his most likely successor.

The shuttling of Lodge, the 1960 GOP vice-presidential nominee, back into the Saigon job he held before Taylor replaced him last year seemed unlikely to quiet Republican blasts on the President's course in Viet Nam.

Aiken observed that he heard "no wild cheering" among Republicans about Lodge's appointment.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he does not believe the Lodge nomination will make any difference in what congressional Republicans say about the President's actions in Viet Nam.

Mansfield predicted Lodge's confirmation by the Senate "without great difficulty" later this month. But he conceded that it may provide the forum for extended debate on Viet Nam policies.

In a forerunner of this, Hartke sided with Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., in calling for greater emphasis on political rather than military efforts in Viet Nam.

reported killed and 51 prisoners were rounded up by the rescue force.

Military sources placed the toll of a Communist ambush 35 miles northwest of saigon Thursday at 151 government soldiers dead, 25 wounded and 59 missing, including four U.S. advisers. The guerrillas sprang the trap as a 365-man battalion was en route to relieve the Xon Dua outpost from Viet Cong attack.

In ground action today, a U.S. spokesman said Vietnamese forces killed 13 Viet Cong and captured 20 others in an operation 35 miles south of here in Go Cong Province.

Only two government soldiers were reported wounded in the operation, but a U.S. Army helicopter gunner was killed by groundfire Friday while landing troops for the assault.

In a final report on the three-day U.S. airborne operation into D Zone that ended Friday, a U.S. spokesman said the bodies of 51 Viet Cong were found in the area about 25 miles north of Saigon, and it was estimated 150 of the enemy had been killed and 200 wounded. Twenty-eight enemy suspects were captured.

The operation was the costliest in terms of American casualties of any Viet Nam action to date. The Army's 173rd Airborne Brigade reportedly sustained 52 casualties — 10 killed and 42 wounded.

Australian troops participating in the operation reported two confirmed Viet Cong dead.

The Vietnamese government claimed its troops killed 50 Viet Cong Friday in an operation in the central Vietnamese province of Quang Nam, 370 miles northeast of here Friday.

Routine raids over both South and North Viet Nam continued.

Communist China said in a Peking broadcast that a number of patients at the Thanh Hoa tuberculosis hospital were wounded Thursday in a U.S. air raid. Thirty-five U.S. Air Force planes struck that day at Army barracks in Thanh Hoa, 80 miles south of Hanoi.

Peking claimed one of the planes was shot down. U.S. officials in Saigon said all planes returned.

There was no formal government announcement in Saigon on the nomination of Henry Cabot Lodge to succeed Maxwell D. Taylor as U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam. But one Vietnamese official said he was pleased over the prospect of Lodge's return to a post he relinquished a year ago.

In Moscow a commentator for Tass news agency said Friday that Taylor's resignation "clearly testifies to the complete bankruptcy of American policy in Viet Nam."

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I clean nickel?

A. — By washing with soap and water, rinsing, then polishing with a soft cloth. If this treatment is not sufficient, use whiting, or a fine cleaning powder, moistened with alcohol. Rinse and polish. Nickel has a way of darkening if not cleaned frequently.

Q. — How can I make the white collars and cuffs, and other white trim on my little girl's dresses sparkling white when laundering them?

A. — Dip a small toothbrush into bleach solution and rub over the white parts before laundering the dresses. This takes only a few minutes, and the results will be pleasing.

Q. — How can I remove water marks from furniture surfaces?

A. — Rub these unsightly spots with a damp cloth on which a few drops of ammonia or spirits of camphor have been sprinkled.

The combined damage to the two cars, which were heading eastward, was estimated at $350 by Audley Campbell, investigating patrolman.

Dankovich was charged with failing to have his vehicle under control and posted $15.50 bond preliminary to a hearing to be conducted next Saturday by Mayor Harry Abrams.

3 Are Injured In Accidents

Two city drivers and a motorcycle passenger were injured in accidents Friday night and early this morning, with one motorist scheduled to appear in Municipal Court on three charges as the aftermath of one collision, police reported.

A violent head - on collision on Lisbon St. at 6:48 p. m. yesterday sent Robert A. Berdine, 23, of 507 Elm St. and Arthur J. Kindle, 41, of Sub Station Rd. to City Hospital, where both were treated and released.

Berdine was treated for contusions of the right arm and forehead, while Kindle was treated for contusions of the right shoulder.

Police cited Berdine on charges of speeding in excess of road conditions, failure to have a photo attached to his chauffeur's license and failure to sign the license. He was released on his own recognizance for an appearance Monday at 1 p. m.

Berdine told police he was headed up the Lisbon St. hill at 35 miles an hour and applied his brakes at the first curve. The brakes grabbed, however, and threw his car across the center line into Kindle's sedan.

Kindle said he was driving down the hill when the other car came around the curve and smashed into his 1957 auto head-on.

The front ends of both autos were damaged, police said. Berdine was driving a 1962 sedan owned by Charles Sanders, 1648 Park St., East Palestine, officers said.

Lawrence Howell, 1208 Riverview St., was listed by police as a witness to the crash.

Bernard Randolph, 15-year-old son of John Randolph, 1100 Dresden Ave., was treated for a laceration of the forehead when the motorcycle he was riding struck the rear of a halted auto at 3rd and Market Sts. at 6:15 a. m. today.

Randolph was a psasenger on a motorcycle operated by John Weddle, 23, of 919 Lisbon St.

Weddle told police he was headed east and was talking to young Randolph and failed to see the stopped car of Michael Haverchak, 51, of Canton in time to avoid striking it.

The front wheel of the cycle was broken and the trunk lid of Haverchak's auto scratched, police said.

Congress Delays Wheat Crop Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress, in an unusual action, has decided there will be no referendum among the nation's wheat growers on a crop support program until 30 days after the present session.

Senate and House agriculture committees indicated the real reason for the decision is that they expect to approve a new voluntary wheat program before adjourning.

In that case, there would be no referendum at all

Wheat farmers for the past two years have operated under a temporary program in which growers qualified for price supports and other payments if they complied with planting and marketing allotments. That program has expired and both houses of Congress are at work on a new one.

Johnson underscored U.S. intentions to throw in whatever is necessary, saying, "We don't plan to let up until the aggression ceases."

The President's news conference dealt mostly with Viet Nam, including his surprise decision to send Lodge back as U.S. ambassador in place of the retiring Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor — who succeeded Lodge a year ago.

Johnson dismissed as "irresponsible, inaccurate, untrue" speculation that the change in ambassadors stemmed from policy differences with Taylor.

Earlier, the White House let it be known that Lodge's return to the Saigon embassy in place of Taylor will mean no change in U.S. policy.

The U.S. commitment of its power and national honor to the struggle to preserve South Viet Nam has been reaffirmed by three presidents, Johnson said.

Insects AND YOUR HEALTH

THE HOUSEFLY

by Jim Fisher

The housefly is a danger to the health of man and animals principally because it carries and spreads disease germs that may be in the material it breeds in, feeds on or walks on. By contaminating food and water and by coming in direct contact with the hands and mouth, flies spread typhoid, dysentery and diarrhea. They play an important part in spreading many other diseases.

BEST WEAPON

Sanitation is your best household weapon. Flies spread in places where garbage or filth accumulate. Make sure you have tight fitting lids on garbage cans. Do not let garbage accumulate in the open or let it stand until it ferments. Well fitting screens on windows and doors are essential for keeping flies out of homes.

WHAT TO DO

There are several kinds of ready to use sprays for killing flies inside the home. If you are having unusual problems with flies in your home, perhaps you should have a consultation with a qualified pest control operator. Such a consultation is yours free for the asking and may save you many, many headaches. I invite you to call FISHER PEST CONTROL by dialing FUlton 5-5720 and tell us when it will be convenient for us to stop by your home. Helping you keep your home pest free is our business. We welcome your call.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I clean nickel?

A. — By washing with soap and water, rinsing, then polishing with a soft cloth. If this treatment is not sufficient, use whiting, or a fine cleaning powder, moistened with alcohol. Rinse and polish. Nickel has a way of darkening if not cleaned frequently.

Q. — How can I make the white collars and cuffs, and other white trim on my little girl's dresses sparkling white when laundering them?

A. — Dip a small toothbrush into bleach solution and rub over the white parts before laundering the dresses. This takes only a few minutes, and the results will be pleasing.

Q. — How can I remove water marks from furniture surfaces?

A. — Rub these unsightly spots with a damp cloth on which a few drops of ammonia or spirits of camphor have been sprinkled.

Two Autos Involved In Wreck At Chester

Chester police reported today that a 1960 auto driven by Matt W. Dankovich, 18, of East Millsboro, Pa., ran into the rear of a 1963 vehicle operated by Kenneth E. Smith, 43, of Lockwood, Ohio, Friday night at 6th St. and Carolina Ave., when Smith stopped for the traffic signal at the intersection.

The combined damage to the two cars, which were heading eastward, was estimated at $350 by Audley Campbell, investigating patrolman.

Dankovich was charged with failing to have his vehicle under control and posted $15.50 bond preliminary to a hearing to be conducted next Saturday by Mayor Harry Abrams.

3 Are Injured In Accidents

Two city drivers and a motorcycle passenger were injured in accidents Friday night and early this morning, with one motorist scheduled to appear in Municipal Court on three charges as the aftermath of one collision, police reported.

A violent head - on collision on Lisbon St. at 6:48 p. m. yesterday sent Robert A. Berdine, 23, of 507 Elm St. and Arthur J. Kindle, 41, of Sub Station Rd. to City Hospital, where both were treated and released.

Berdine was treated for contusions of the right arm and forehead, while Kindle was treated for contusions of the right shoulder.

Police cited Berdine on charges of speeding in excess of road conditions, failure to have a photo attached to his chauffeur's license and failure to sign the license. He was released on his own recognizance for an appearance Monday at 1 p. m.

Berdine told police he was headed up the Lisbon St. hill at 35 miles an hour and applied his brakes at the first curve. The brakes grabbed, however, and threw his car across the center line into Kindle's sedan.

Kindle said he was driving down the hill when the other car came around the curve and smashed into his 1957 auto head-on.

The front ends of both autos were damaged, police said. Berdine was driving a 1962 sedan owned by Charles Sanders, 1648 Park St., East Palestine, officers said.

Lawrence Howell, 1208 Riverview St., was listed by police as a witness to the crash.

Bernard Randolph, 15-year-old son of John Randolph, 1100 Dresden Ave., was treated for a laceration of the forehead when the motorcycle he was riding struck the rear of a halted auto at 3rd and Market Sts. at 6:15 a. m. today.

Randolph was a psasenger on a motorcycle operated by John Weddle, 23, of 919 Lisbon St.

Weddle told police he was headed east and was talking to young Randolph and failed to see the stopped car of Michael Haverchak, 51, of Canton in time to avoid striking it.

The front wheel of the cycle was broken and the trunk lid of Haverchak's auto scratched, police said.

Congress Delays Wheat Crop Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress, in an unusual action, has decided there will be no referendum among the nation's wheat growers on a crop support program until 30 days after the present session.

Senate and House agriculture committees indicated the real reason for the decision is that they expect to approve a new voluntary wheat program before adjourning.

In that case, there would be no referendum at all.

Wheat farmers for the past two years have operated under a temporary program in which growers qualified for price supports and other payments if they complied with planting and marketing allotments. That program has expired and both houses of Congress are at work on a new one.

troops to be in Viet Nam by Oct. 1, might be accelerated, it was felt.

Even this number is not the potential top. The U.S. government has placed no ceiling on what it may commit in military power to turn back the Communists in Viet Nam.

Johnson underscored U.S. intentions to throw in whatever is necessary, saying, "We don't plan to let up until the aggression ceases."

The President's news conference dealt mostly with Viet Nam, including his surprise decision to send Lodge back as U.S. ambassador in place of the retiring Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor — who succeeded Lodge a year ago.

Johnson dismissed as "irresponsible, inaccurate, untrue" speculation that the change in ambassadors stemmed from policy differences with Taylor.

Earlier, the White House let it be known that Lodge's return to the Saigon embassy in place of Taylor will mean no change in U.S. policy.

The U.S. commitment of its power and national honor to the struggle to preserve South Viet Nam has been reaffirmed by three presidents, Johnson said.

Insects AND YOUR HEALTH

THE HOUSEFLY

by Jim Fisher

The housefly is a danger to the health of man and animals principally because it carries and spreads disease germs that may be in the material it breeds in, feeds on or walks on. By contaminating food and water and by coming in direct contact with the hands and mouth, flies spread typhoid, dysentery and diarrhea. They play an important part in spreading many other diseases.

BEST WEAPON

Sanitation is your best household weapon. Flies spread in places where garbage or filth accumulate. Make sure you have tight fitting lids on garbage cans. Do not let garbage accumulate in the open or let it stand until it ferments. Well fitting screens on windows and doors are essential for keeping flies out of homes.

WHAT TO DO

There are several kinds of ready to use sprays for killing flies inside the home. If you are having unusual problems with flies in your home, perhaps you should have a consultation with a qualified pest control operator. Such a consultation is yours free for the asking and may save you many, many headaches. I invite you to call FISHER PEST CONTROL by dialing FUlton 5-5720 and tell us when it will be convenient for us to stop by your home. Helping you keep your home pest free is our business. We welcome your call.

Billing Issued By Auditor On Street Lights

Auditor Lawrence J. Zollinger mailed bills Friday afternoon to approximately 81 owners of business district property for their share of charges due in 1965-66 for a new fluorescent street lighting system in the downtown area.

The billing totals $7,805.89 for 5,743.82 feet of frontage on business district streets assessed at the rate of $1.35 per foot, Zollinger explained.

Following the deadline set in an assessing ordinance enacted by Council Wednesday night, he specified the charges may be paid by cash or check until Aug. 12 at the auditor's office.

After that date, the ordinance requires any unpaid assessments to be certified to County Auditor Kenneth Bell at Lisbon for collection on the tax duplicate. A 3 per cent additional charge will be made for collection by the county.

Zollinger said more than 81 pieces of property are affected, as some of the postcard notices list three or four properties held by one person. In addition to East Liverpool, the statements will go to addresses in many other parts of the nation, including Chicago, Washington and Pittsburgh.

It's the third year of the street lighting assessment. Last year, all except 12 of the property owners paid the charges at City Hall. The dozen unpaid by the deadline were certified to the county auditor.

The assessing ordinance will be in effect 10 years.

Prior to installation of the new system, owners of business district property signed a petition in which they agreed to pay the difference in annual cost between the former incandescent lights and the new fixtures.

Crash Kills Youth, 18

TWINSBURG, Ohio (AP)—A Hudson youth was killed in a two-car smashup on his 18th birthday Friday. The youth, Wayne Jirousak, apparently lost control of the car he was driving on Ohio 91, police said. The car collided with one driven by a Bedford Heights woman about one mile north of this Summit County community.

Lisbon St. Crash Damages 2 Cars

Two autos were damaged in a collision Friday afternoon on Lisbon St. near W. 8th St., police reported.

The mishap involved a halted 1961 two - door sedan operated by Alan Lee Cornell, 21, of 801 Green Ln. and a 1947 model auto driven by Thomas F. Roberts, 18 of the Y. & O. Rd., officers said.

Cornell told officers he was halted at a traffic light at the intersection when Roberts' car, traveling in the same direction, struck the right front of his auto. The left side of Roberts' car was damaged.

Roberts blamed brake failure, officers said. The collision was timed at 12:15.

S. Leslie Jones Files For Post In Madison

Singapore Quiet For Fete Which Brought '64 Riots

SINGAPORE (AP) — Singapore buttoned up today on the birthday of the Prophet Mohammed which last year triggered Chinese-Malay riots that killed 23 persons.

Streets were deserted and most shops were closed and shuttered. Food markets in the multi-racial city opened briefly for a few hours in the morning, then closed.

The 6,000-man police force was on standby duty and battalions of Malaysian troops were ready for riot prevention action.

As a precautionary move, police arrested 45 known gangsters Friday night, saying they may have been paid by "subversive forces" to cause trouble.

The traditional religious procession which touched off last year's riots was canceled. "Indonesian aggression" against Malaysia was the official reason. A rally was to be held in its place.

Processions also were banned in the Malaysian federal capital of Kuala Lumpur and in other major cities.

Tension between the Malays and the Chinese was even greater this year in Singapore because of political friction between the strongly Moslem Malaysian federal government and the predominantly Chinese Singapore state government.

Last year's riots lasted four days. During the reign of terror a woman was stoned to death, a man was slashed in the face with a meat hook and others were knifed and beaten to death with clubs, crowbars, rocks and bottles.

Man Held Guilty Of 2 Violations

LISBON — Roy Lester Campbell, 36, of 32 W. Pershing St., Salem, who pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary last September, was found in violation of probation Thursday in Common Pleas Court.

Judge Raymond S. Buzzard sentenced him to 1 to 15 years in Ohio Penitentiary for breaking into the Firestone Store at Salem June 16, 1964.

Campbell was cited for probation violation in April, but the court gave him a second chance.

The court found Campbell broke the first two terms of probation—to be of good behavior and obey all laws and to refrain from drinking intoxicants.

William Patrick Robertson of Warren R.D. 4 obtained release from the County Jail, his counsel telling the court the prisoner is in need of surgery.

Robertson pleaded guilty to a fraudulent check charge last April and was fined $200 and costs and was sentenced to jail until the fine and costs are paid.

Judge Buzzard made his release order subject to any detainers and ordered Robertson to pay the balance of fine and costs within six months. The city of Wooster is to take Robertson today for prosecution of a fraudulent check charge.

Worker Killed By Fall In Cleveland Salt Bin

CLEVELAND (AP)—A construction worker fell into a huge salt bin and was killed at the International Salt Co. mine on Whisky Island Friday.

Kenneth Theiry Jr., 24, an employe of the Victor Construction Co., had been working on a catwalk above the bin when he stepped onto the salt. Another worker said he heard Theiry shout and turned to see him disappear. The bins store salt 1,780 feet below the surface in the mine, which extends under Lake Erie.

Lull Enters Race Conflict In Bogalusa

BOGALUSA, La. (AP)—Militants on both sides poised in a tense lull in the civil rights fight today while lawyers carried on a legal skirmish.

Demonstrations were suspended—through today, at least—in response to urgent pleas from Gov. John J. McKeithen and Bogalusa Mayor Jesse H. Cutrer Jr. The governor blamed the uproar on small minorities of both races which he said are determined to lead into "chaos and violence."

At New Orleans, 65 miles to the south, U.S. Dist. Judge Herbert W. Christenberry scheduled a hearing today on the city of Bogalusa's petition for a court order forbidding demonstrations for an indefinite time.

The great majority of Bogalusa's 22,000 residents seemed to welcome the respite.

The city's court petition, filed Friday, said racial tensions in this southeast Louisiana area, a Ku Klux Klan stronghold, are now so great that police cannot guard against major violence.

A. Z. Young, president of the Bogalusa Civic and Voters League, said the national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, James Farmer, will be on hand Sunday.

Young said a permit for a Sunday march will be requested. The demonstrations are against alleged police brutality, segregation and the lack of job opportunities.

A Pearl River, La., resident, Alton D. Crowe Jr., 26, was shot and seriously wounded at Thursday's protest march—precipitating the present racial crisis.

Two Negroes arrested after the shooting were held at an undisclosed jail for investigation of aggravated battery. Witnesses said Crowe was making a fist-swinging attack on them when he was shot with a .38 caliber pistol. He is in a New Orleans hospital.

Fall Start Seen On Water Project In St. Clair Area

Construction of the planned St. Clair Township water system may get under way late this year, Rep. Wayne L. Hays indicated Friday in a report on progress of a Columbiana County application for funds for planning for a countywide water and sewer system.

Hays said the county's application for some $60,000 for planning from the U.S. Housing and Home Finance Agency is in final processing at Chicago and should be forwarded next week to Washington for final approval.

William Quicksall Associates of New Philadelphia will undertake the countywide planning. However, most of the planning work for the St. Clair system has been completed by George Bloomgreen, East Liverpool engineer, and that project may be ready for construction in the fall.

The plans for the county district are to be turned into the Chicago office by August, Hays advised the county commissioners.

The St. Clair project was advanced under the former Southeastern Water and Sewer District which was terminated and placed under the county program for techincal reasons.

The headquarters of the United Nations faces the East River in New York City.

Venezuela Reds Employ Psychiatry For Recruits

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Communist leaders apparently find many young Venezuelans cannot stand the guerrilla life.

That is a police official's explanation for a newly discovered psychiatry department in the Communist party, formed to screen recruits.

The so-called Armed Forces of National Liberation — FALN — aim to overthrow President Raul Leoni in a Castro-type revolution.

Youths, mostly high school and university students, are recruited for the guerrilla bands in the mountains of western Venezuela and east of Caracas. Many supposedly are attracted by the olive green uniforms, the jaunty berets, the submachine guns, the admiration of girl friends for daring young men.

An Interior Ministry source estimates, however, that only about one in four of the recruits has been able to take the hard life in the mountain jungles.

Many — hungry, bearded, dirty, bedraggled from days and nights in rain and mud — have given themselves up. Others apparently broke down after a few days and had to be sent home. Officials say 488 have been captured in 12 months.

That is why, officials believe, Communist leaders have been sending fresh recruits to party psychiatrists for examination to weed out those unlikely to endure hardships and bear up under fire in clashes with army detachments seeking them out.

In prison on a charge of heading the party's psychiatry department is Dr. Jose Marino Colina Leones, 40, a Caracas psychiatrist.

Police say documents seized in a raid on his clinic indicated party leaders gave each aspirant a bank note worth about $11 to pay the psychiatrist for his examination. Presumably the would-be guerrilla supposed it was an ordinary medical examination.

The note — with a serial number known to the doctor — was a sort of pass to let him know the real purpose of the visit.

Woman Admitted To Hospital After Injury To Head

A woman who suffered a head injury in a home accident was admitted to City Hospital, where seven other persons were treated Friday.

Mrs. Evelyn Badger of Glenmoor was in "fair" condition today with a possible concussion suffered when she bumped her head against a cupboard door at home yesterday afternoon.

Thomas Richard McGeehan, son of Sam McGeehan, 304 Louisiana Ave., Chester, suffered an abrasion on the left forearm in a fall from a bicycle.

Mary Switzer, 456 Florida Ave., Chester, fell down steps at home, suffering lacerations of the nose, upper lip, right leg and above the left eye.

Mary Ann Lemire, daughter of H. J. Lemire of Anderson Blvd., sprained her left ankle while playing.

Robert Long, 803 Bradshaw Ave., fell while walking along Bradshaw, receiving abrasions of the right elbow, ear, forehead and a laceration above the right eye.

Allen McGaffic, 1272 Sunnyside Ave., a service station attendant, was burned on the face and right hand by water from an overheated car radiator.

John Taylor of Chester R. D. 1 suffered contusions of the forearm when he caught his right arm in a grinding machine at the T-K Roofing Co.

Billing Issued By Auditor On Street Lights

Auditor Lawrence J. Zollinger mailed bills Friday afternoon to approximately 81 owners of business district property for their share of charges due in 1965-66 for a new fluorescent street lighting system in the downtown area.

The billing totals $7,805.89 for 5,743.82 feet of frontage on business district streets assessed at the rate of $1.35 per foot, Zollinger explained.

Following the deadline set in an assessing ordinance enacted by Council Wednesday night, he specified the charges may be paid by cash or check until Aug. 12 at the auditor's office.

After that date, the ordinance requires any unpaid assessments to be certified to County Auditor Kenneth Bell at Lisbon for collection on the tax duplicate. A 3 per cent additional charge will be made for collection by the county.

Zollinger said more than 81 pieces of property are affected, as some of the postcard notices list three or four properties held by one person. In addition to East Liverpool, the statements will go to addresses in many other parts of the nation, including Chicago, Washington and Pittsburgh.

It's the third year of the street lighting assessment. Last year, all except 12 of the property owners paid the charges at City Hall. The dozen unpaid by the deadline were certified to the county auditor.

The assessing ordinance will be in effect 10 years.

Prior to installation of the new system, owners of business district property signed a petition in which they agreed to pay the difference in annual cost between the former incandescent lights and the new fixtures.

Lisbon St. Crash Damages 2 Cars

Two autos were damaged in a collision Friday afternoon on Lisbon St. near W. 8th St., police reported.

The mishap involved a halted 1961 two - door sedan operated by Alan Lee Cornell, 21, of 801 Green Ln. and a 1947 model auto driven by Thomas F. Roberts, 18, of the Y. & O. Rd., officers said.

Cornell told officers he was halted at a traffic light at the intersection when Roberts' car, traveling in the same direction, struck the right front of his auto. The left side of Roberts' car was damaged.

Roberts blamed brake failure, officers said. The collision was timed at 12:15.

Singapore Quiet For Fete Which Brought '64 Riots

SINGAPORE (AP) — Singapore buttoned up today on the birthday of the Prophet Mohammed which last year triggered Chinese-Malay riots that killed 23 persons.

Streets were deserted and most shops were closed and shuttered. Food markets in the multi-racial city opened briefly for a few hours in the morning, then closed.

The 6,000-man police force was on standby duty and battalions of Malaysian troops were ready for riot prevention action.

As a precautionary move, police arrested 45 known gangsters Friday night, saying they may have been paid by "subversive forces" to cause trouble.

The traditional religious procession which touched off last year's riots was canceled. "Indonesian aggression" against Malaysia was the official reason. A rally was to be held in its place.

Processions also were banned in the Malaysian federal capital of Kuala Lumpur and in other major cities.

Tension between the Malays and the Chinese was even greater this year in Singapore because of political friction between the strongly Moslem Malaysian federal government and the predominantly Chinese Singapore state government.

Last year's riots lasted four days. During the reign of terror a woman was stoned to death, a man was slashed in the face with a meat hook and others were knifed and beaten to death with clubs, crowbars, rocks and bottles.

Man Held Guilty Of 2 Violations

LISBON — Roy Lester Campbell, 36, of 32 W. Pershing St., Salem, who pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary last September, was found in violation of probation Thursday in Common Pleas Court.

Judge Raymond S. Buzzard sentenced him to 1 to 15 years in Ohio Penitentiary for breaking into the Firestone Store at Salem June 16, 1964.

Campbell was cited for probation violation in April, but the court gave him a second chance.

The court found Campbell broke the first two terms of probation—to be of good behavior and obey all laws and to refrain from drinking intoxicants.

William Patrick Robertson of Warren R.D. 4 obtained release from the County Jail, his counsel telling the court the prisoner is in need of surgery.

Robertson pleaded guilty to a fraudulent check charge last April and was fined $200 and costs and was sentenced to jail until the fine and costs are paid.

Judge Buzzard made his release order subject to any detainers and ordered Robertson to pay the balance of fine and costs within six months. The city of Wooster is to take Robertson today for prosecution of a fraudulent check charge.

Worker Killed By Fall In Cleveland Salt Bin

CLEVELAND (AP)—A construction worker fell into a huge salt bin and was killed at the International Salt Co. mine on Whisky Island Friday.

Kenneth Theiry Jr., 24, an employe of the Victor Construction Co., had been working on a catwalk above the bin when he stepped onto the salt. Another worker said he heard Theiry shout and turned to see him disappear. The bins store salt 1,780 feet below the surface in the mine, which extends under Lake Erie.

Lull Enters Race Conflict In Bogalusa

BOGALUSA, La. (AP)—Militants on both sides poised in a tense lull in the civil rights fight today while lawyers carried on a legal skirmish.

Demonstrations were suspended—through today, at least—in response to urgent pleas from Gov. John J. McKeithen and Bogalusa Mayor Jesse H. Cutrer Jr. The governor blamed the uproar on small minorities of both races which he said are determined to head into "chaos and violence."

At New Orleans, 65 miles to the south, U.S. Dist. Judge Herbert W. Christenberry scheduled a hearing today on the city of Bogalusa's petition for a court order forbidding demonstrations for an indefinite time.

The great majority of Bogalusa's 22,000 residents seemed to welcome the respite.

The city's court petition, filed Friday, said racial tensions in this southeast Louisiana area, a Ku Klux Klan stronghold, are now so great that police cannot guard against major violence.

A. Z. Young, president of the Bogalusa Civic and Voters League, said the national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, James Farmer, will be on hand Sunday.

Young said a permit for a Sunday march will be requested. The demonstrations are against alleged police brutality, segregation and the lack of job opportunities.

A Pearl River, La., resident, Alton D. Crowe Jr., 26, was shot and seriously wounded at Thursday's protest march—precipitating the present racial crisis.

Two Negroes arrested after the shooting were held at an undisclosed jail for investigation of aggravated battery. Witnesses said Crowe was making a fist-swinging attack on them when he was shot with a .38 caliber pistol. He is in a New Orleans hospital.

Fall Start Seen On Water Project In St. Clair Area

Construction of the planned St. Clair Township water system may get under way late this year, Rep. Wayne L. Hays indicated Friday in a report on progress of a Columbiana County application for funds for planning for a countywide water and sewer system.

Hays said the county's application for some $60,000 for planning from the U.S. Housing and Home Finance Agency is in final processing at Chicago and should be forwarded next week to Washington for final approval.

William Quicksall Associates of New Philadelphia will undertake the countywide planning. However, most of the planning work for the St. Clair system has been completed by George Bloomgreen, East Liverpool engineer, and that project may be ready for construction in the fall.

The plans for the county district are to be turned into the Chicago office by August, Hays advised the county commissioners.

The St. Clair project was advanced under the former Southeastern Water and Sewer District which was terminated and placed under the county program for techincal reasons.

The headquarters of the United Nations faces the East River in New York City.

Jungle Life Too Hard

Venezuela Reds Employ Psychiatry For Recruits

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Communist leaders apparently find many young Venezuelans cannot stand the guerrilla life.

That is a police official's explanation for a newly discovered psychiatry department in the Communist party, formed to screen recruits.

The so-called Armed Forces of National Liberation — FALN — aim to overthrow President Raul Leoni in a Castro-type revolution.

Youths, mostly high school and university students, are recruited for the guerrilla bands in the mountains of western Venezuela and east of Caracas. ## OSU Controversy Will Continue

The controversy over the Ohio State University's speakers' rule apparently must continue.

This is the only concrete result we can see coming out of the 5-3 vote Thursday of the university Board of Trustees, defeating a resolution to revise the rule in accordance with a proposal of the Faculty Advisory Committee.

The vote simply prolonged the issue that had crystallized around a rule whose existence had come to signify suppression of academic freedom to some members of the student body and the university faculty. The rule provides the means of barring speakers from addressing audiences on the campus under some circumstances.

We find no evidence that academic freedom actually has been affected in any direct way by the speakers' rule, but that is the way the issue developed on the university campus last winter and spring.

The real issue, we feel sure, goes deeper than that.

IT IS WHETHER activists in the student body and university faculty are to be granted the right they claim to authority over academic affairs when the claim is in conflict with trustee policy.

It is significant that President Novice G. Fawcett took his stand with the student and faculty activists before the 5-3 vote, thus making it a vote of confidence in his administration.

He recalled that during his first 18 months as president the same issue was troublesome and the present rule is the outcome of negotiations carried on then (1956-57.)

As the result of his experience at Ohio State, President Fawcett asked the trustees to abandon the existing rule in line with recommendations by the Faculty Advisory Committee.

He reasoned that abandoning the rule would dissolve the issue. "I have concluded, after long and exhaustive study," he said, "that the position in which we find ourselves under the present rule is one through which subversives and their ilk achieve exactly the kind of publicity for which they strive and that we in a sense aid their cause by giving them an opportunity to gain the quality of exposure they seek. On many other campuses that operate under the kind of rule before you, controversial people appear, are heard by a very few people and leave without having made much impact on anyone."

WE RESPECT the sincerity of the trustees who voted in the majority against President Fawcett's recommendation, which was supported by the Faculty Council and the members of the President's Cabinet.

But their 5-3 majority vote settled nothing. It only signified that five Ohio State trustees were unwilling to show confidence in the university's president. They put President Fawcett in a bad position.

The vote guaranteed that unless the controversial speakers' rule now can be clarified or in some way made acceptable to its critics the controversy carried on most of the 1964-1965 academic year will be continued.

Two Sides

A "Letter To The Editor" in Friday's Review complained about supervision at the Thompson Park swimming pool.

Undoubtedly the woman concerned felt she had just cause for complaint or the letter wouldn't have been written. And it's safe to assume the park management can offer what it considers logical rebuttal.

Which brings up a point—regardless of who is right and who is wrong, such complaints properly presented serve a worthwhile purpose in many instances by calling attention to situations that may require adjustment.

Which brings up another point—the harm from such complaints lies in the fact that too often too many are ready to accept charges at face value—be it about a swimming pool or some other facility or some other matter—as a blanket indictment of the operation in question.

This is unfortunate. It must be remembered that for every critical opinion there may be an equal number of favorable viewpoints which have not been presented.

Protests of various nature should be received with an open mind, without too hasty judgment. In most cases, there are two sides to every situation.

Every Little Bit Counts

We are having another chance as Americans to watch one of the key functions of our presidency in time of stress.

We have watched this in two world wars and a depression.

It has been watched in other national crises that were even more severe — the Civil War, when only Abraham Lincoln's steadfastness held the nation together, the Spanish-American War when the United States threw itself off balance with enthusiasm for expansion.

It has happened often enough for a pattern to be noticeable, and now that it is happening again it is interesting to note that the pattern is the same.

President Johnson is being used as a scapegoat for everything his countrymen find disturbing.

He is being blamed for the irregularity of paper values in the stock market, inability of the United States to impose its will on Southeast Asia, the Chinese People's Republic, the Republic of France, the Soviet Union and on its own citizens still waving Confederate flags in the irreconcilable South.

OBSERVERS in Washington, who only recently were marveling at President Johnson's successful consensus, now are pointing out signs of dissent, as if dissent had not been long overdue.

The presidential image has changed from an outgoing, friendly man with a ready laugh and an endless supply of good - natured quips to a deeply preoccupied man worried about the undeclared war being fought in Viet Nam under his personal direction as commander-in-chief.

The easy acceptance of Lyndon B. Johnson by his countryman as the presidential understudy who became a star when tragedy felled John F. Kennedy has changed into carping criticism of an executive unable to drive out the demons by executive decree.

Herbert Hoover couldn't drive out the demons either. Nor Franklin Roosevelt. John Kennedy had begun to reveal his limitations before his death. Harry Truman could not cope with the Korean debacle.

Dwight Eisenhower had less than supernatural power.

Woodrow Wilson ultimately was broken by the scapegoat role forced on him in the disenchantment after World War 1.

And had it not been for his martyrdom, the now immortal Lincoln would have been just another U. S. president destined to bear an insupportable burden of recriminations shifted to his shoulders by his countrymen.

EVERY LITTLE BIT of blame counts In the burden an American president is expected to bear in a time of trouble.

No political figure who aspires to be president fails to understand that being a scapegoat is part of the job.

But, obviously, no human being can relish the role of scapegoat.

It only can be hoped that President Johnson understands why it must be this way and has the fortitude to bear his burden philosophically.

After all, in a parliamentary government he could be threatened with a vote of no confidence. In a dictatorship, he could be overthrown. In a monarchy, he could be deposed.

In a representative democracy, he must grin and bear it. There's no way out.

The Rains Came

The rains came yesterday. To district farmers and those with parched lawns Friday's downpour, while brief, was a Godsend.

It wasn't too long ago that Edwin Copeland, U. S. weather observer at Millport, pointed out that the corn and hay crops in Columbiana County had been hard hit by the drought.

Yesterday's rain should help some, although it is only a drop in the bucket in the total amount the good earth needs.

At least there's some reason for encouragement for those who have been looking to the heavens for relief.

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

My fears were realized when I up-ended a well-filled tray of food at a buffet dinner. I was still apologizing for the mess on the pretty carpet when the host dumped his tray next to the spot just then being cleaned up.

It is lucky I can't afford to keep any more dogs, because rarely does a week go by that the Twillery is not offered one or more dogs—everything from pups to St. Bernards.

I have found eight storm windows that can be left in all summer and no one notices they have not been replaced by screens. Now if I could find eight windows in which I could leave screens all winter, my household chores would be minimized.

I wonder when professional athletes are downgraded by a manager's snide remarks what keeps them from suing for slander and libel. Their ability to make a living is hurt, no doubt about that.

When I first made a comparison between Viet Nam and Korea, I was told my remarks were in bad taste. Everybody now is making the comparison and I suspect even the Pentagon must be wondering. Korea is where the United States is still pinned down after a truce in 1953—12 years ago this summer.

I wonder if other people have noticed too—that petunias have a fragrance that can become offensive in a closed room but is at its best at twilight in a flower garden.

I wish the Johnson girl's religion conversion had been kept confidential and personal, which I am sure she wishes, too. I feel apologetic for newspapering when it digs into matters I do not consider to be in the public domain.

Opportunity Only Used To Knock

Defense Tackles Personnel Problem

By Robert S. McNamara

Victor Riesel is off on a labor reporting trip to the Caribbean islands and the nations of Latin America. To give Riesel travel time a number of national leaders are substituting for him.

The Department of Defense today shares a personnel management problem which confronts many industrial firms: how do we keep abreast of rapidly changing technology while meeting the legitimate needs of our work force?

Changes in the extent of location of bases and installations, for example, are absolutely essential if we are to be responsive to developing technology and military planning. Yet it is also essential that the burden of adjusting to these changes should not fall primarily on the individual employes of those installations.

I believe the department, as a responsible employer, can and must assume the major part of that burden as a necessary cost of doing business in a rapidly changing world. And I'm certain that it's in the best interests of the government to retain in its employ as many of its skilled and experienced career employes as possible.

IN RECOGNITION of this challenge, we have initiated a series of far-reaching measures to ease the impact of change on Department of Defense career employes.

Among these are: phasing out bases over a period of time, normally from one to four years, which takes advantage of the ordinary attrition rate in the work force; paying the moving expenses of displaced employes to other locations in the Department of Defense; retaining original pay opportunities for a period of two years for employes who accept positions at lower grades; discontinuing appointments (or hiring only temporary personnel) in employment categories where large surpluses of career employes exist or can be anticipated; retraining displaced employes for new jobs and maintaining their compensation during retraining; working with the Civil Service Commission to find jobs for Department of Defense employes in other federal agencies; working with the Department of Labor to counsel, test, and refer interested employes to private industry; maintaining a computer - operated, nationwide referral system to locate the innumerable job opportunities which arise through normal attrition within the Department of Defense.

The last feature, a nationwide priority job referral system for displaced employes, is relatively new and has some unique features which offer much promise.

THE USE of computers has made it possible for us to centralize and speed up the complicated task of matching the skills of displaced employes to vacancies which, through normal personnel turnover, occur regularly throughout the Department of Defense's huge work force approximating one million civilian employes. This now is being accomplished through a single Centralized Referral Activity (CRA), which was established on a operational basis March 1, 1965.

Briefly, the Centralized Referral Activity works in this way: the displaced employes are described in terms of their individual skills or fields of specialization, and of the salary and locations they are willing to accept.

This information is stored at the CRA in Dayton, Ohio, on magnetic tape. Every few days, the CRA sends out "stopper lists" displaying the job categories for which qualified employes are already available.

INSTALLATIONS receiving these lists are not permitted to fill any existing vacancies in the listed categories by hiring new employes, or, in some circumstances, even by promotion. Rather, they must send a requisition to the CRA, which then prints out a priority placement certificate containing the names of the employes registered as qualified for the job.

The installation with the vacancy then arranges directly for employment of any individual listed with the organization which no longer needs him.

This system is invoked only when the difficulty of placing employes requires department-wide efforts. Otherwise, normal placement and reassignment procedures of individual commands, the military departments or the various defense agencies are used.

In the first three months of the CRA's operation, more than 1,600 registrants were placed, about one-half from priority placement certificates, the balance from supplementary programs. Obviously, employes must be placed where jobs exist and frequent moving is necessary.

About 54 per cent of the registrants in the Department of Defense nationwide referral system who have been placed to date moved from their present department.

ALTHOUGH employe moving expenses are currently paid by the government, concern that employes might incur expenses above the present limitations led the President to propose legislation which would allow substantial increases in such compensation. For those employes who cannot be given new jobs in their present locations, who do not elect to move, and who are not eligible for retirement, the President has proposed severance payments that will assist them substantially in making the transition to other employment.

These proposals for increased transportation expenses and severance pay are now receiving active consideration in the Congress and are strongly supported by the Department of Defense.

Neither the Centralized Referral Activity, nor any of the other measures undertaken within the Department of Defense, constitutes a panacea for the problem of technological change and employe dislocation.

These measures do illustrate, however, that there is much that management can do, and I firmly believe must do, to cope with the effect of management decisions on the careers of those employes who are affected.

In this era, we do not have a surplus of skilled labor. Far from it. The problem is to match the skills to the jobs — and this is a problem which no modern society can afford to leave unsolved.

Weaknesses In Presidential Setup Cited

There's a good deal wrong with the operation of the government nowadays—but President Johnson isn't alone to blame. It's primarily the fault of what might be called the presidential system, whose defects have been a handicap also to other presidents in the last 30 years as the problems of government have multiplied.

David Lawrence

Many of the comments lately about dissension in governmental councils on various subjects have come from critics who have been unable to see the forest for the trees. The so-called temperamental outbursts by Mr. Johnson, for instance—which have been magnified in the press recently out of all proportion to their true importance—merely reflect the troubles every president has with the kind of organization given him in the executive branch of the federal government.

Naturally Mr. Johnson becomes impatient when he reads gossip about how this or that aide is treated by him or how one adviser is brusquely handled. But these episodes really portray the many frustrating phases of a chief executive's effort to do too much in too many fields with too little assistance from those under him in the various departments of the government.

SOONER OR LATER it will be recognized that the executive system of today has outlived its usefulness and needs a few of those mature minds from the business world to formulate a system of operation that will not only be efficient in administration but effective in making policy.

For one thing, the President's Cabinet is a misnomer. It is, in fact, a group of managers of departments, every one of which could be supervised by career executives so as to leave the secretary in each case free to give virtually his entire time to the task of advising the president on all manner of subjects.

This would make possible daily meetings of the Cabinet, at which everything from Viet Nam to the balance-of-payments problem could be discussed before decisions were made by the chief executive.

No president can know all the answers to all public questions, and he is necessarily dependent on advisers of some kind. It is this very phase of the present system which is weak. The unofficial advisers to a president today are handpicked as a sort of personal entourage, responsible only to the man who can fire them overnight. There is no sense of responsibility to the public such as is vested in a Cabinet officer who is confirmed by the Senate.

MANY OF THESE personal advisers—as, for instance, McGeorge Bundy—are capable of holding Cabinet posts. But there can hardly be two secretaries of state. It would be much better if Secretary Rusk had the services of as many personal advisers as he wished and could give to the President and the entire Cabinet the "consensus" which he found in the reports from abroad and from the interpretation of such reports by experienced men around him.

The concept of a Cabinet which would be relieved of detail and thereby enabled to meet daily with the chief executive was discussed by this correspondent one day while lunching with the late President Kennedy during his first year in office. While Mr. Kennedy seemed to agree with the theory, he questioned whether it would be practical. His doubt centered on the difficulty of finding ten persons for the Cabinet posts who would have a broad enough knowledge to advise a president on all manner of subjects or who could be persuaded to leave their positions in private life to accept such appointments.

Actually, there are many men of stature in the country who would gladly enter the government as Cabinet officers if the presidential Cabinet became the governing institution it should be and if it carried the prestige it deserves.

THE UNITED STATES government is the largest in the world. Some decentralization on a geographical basis may become necessary to take care of the federal government's newly assumed responsibilities for handling regional as well as local problems that range from sociological fields but a new operating formula for the departments in the national capital is essential, together with the establishment of a Cabinet in which each member would give his entire time to the president and occupy offices in a building along with him.

Such a group of advisers would be much more likely to help steer a resolute and steady course in foreign policy than is possible under the hit-or-miss system of today which results in so many improvised and spur-of-the-moment decisions. Certainly it's time that the weakness in the present system of presidential operations was remedied.

The denial of the help of bracero labor — Mexican workers — to California's great agricultural industry threatens critically serious consequences to this state. But there are problems in human relationships involved which are moving and internationally significant.

I have a letter from a friend in Texas who has given his time and substance for several years to the improvement of the relations between the citizens of his state and their Mexican neighbors. He is Neville G. Penrose of Fort Worth.

He says that the termination of Public Law 78, known as the Bracero Act, has not only greatly injured the economy of his state but has ended what he calls "a natural peace corps which costs us nothing."

UP TO THE TIME of the termination of the law permitting Mexicans to spend a part of each year working in American agriculture, "the going and coming of Mexican labor was just as traditional, but possibly not so romantic, as the mysterious visits of the swallows of Capistrano.

"The seasonal flow of this class of labor has through many, many years been just as normal and as natural as the flight of ducks and geese which fly south in the fall and return in the spring."

Penrose says further: "The feeling between American citizens and Mexican citizens has never been as friendly as now. I have always felt that the braceros had a lot to do with this fine relationship."

Penrose also recalled the immense economic advantage of labor imported from Mexico in the early years before the flow of European immigrants through Ellis Island. These people did the pick - and - shovel work on the railroads, the highways and building construction in new and growing cities.

Because of mechanization in the United States, the need for farm labor has decreased in recent years. But more of this kind of work is now to be found in Mexico, where a considerable number of American growers have established large farms. In 1960, 450,000 braceros came up from Mexico, while in 1964 there were 182,000. But they were essential to the gathering of the crops in Texas and the Southwest.

THIS YEAR there was tragedy for many of these people when they sought to return and found the way barred. Many were illiterate and had no radios. They did not know of the exclusion until they reached the border. So they had to return home, many on foot, with no money to help them care for their families in the year to come.

This has been brought about by a regime in Washington which makes loud noises about the necessity of winning the good will of foreign peoples by pouring out billions in aid to nations in which the people themselves get precious little of what we send.

It would seem useless to talk about a good neighbor policy in the light of this treatment of our nearest neighbors south of the border.

OSU Controversy Will Continue

The controversy over the Ohio State University's speakers' rule apparently must continue.

This is the only concrete result we can see coming out of the 5-3 vote Thursday of the university Board of Trustees, defeating a resolution to revise the rule in accordance with a proposal of the Faculty Advisory Committee.

The vote simply prolonged the issue that had crystallized around a rule whose existence had come to signify suppression of academic freedom to some members of the student body and the university faculty. The rule provides the means of barring speakers from addressing audiences on the campus under some circumstances.

We find no evidence that academic freedom actually has been affected in any direct way by the speakers' rule, but that is the way the issue developed on the university campus last winter and spring.

The real issue, we feel sure, goes deeper than that.

IT IS WHETHER activists in the student body and university faculty are to be granted the right they claim to authority over academic affairs when the claim is in conflict with trustee policy.

It is significant that President Novice G. Fawcett took his stand with the student and faculty activists before the 5-3 vote, thus making it a vote of confidence in his administration.

He recalled that during his first 18 months as president the same issue was troublesome and the present rule is the outcome of negotiations carried on then (1956-57.)

As the result of his experience at Ohio State, President Fawcett asked the trustees to abandon the existing rule in line with recommendations by the Faculty Advisory Committee.

He reasoned that abandoning the rule would dissolve the issue. "I have concluded, after long and exhaustive study," he said, "that the position in which we find ourselves under the present rule is one through which subversives and their ilk achieve exactly the kind of publicity for which they strive and that we in a sense aid their cause by giving them an opportunity to gain the quality of exposure they seek. On many other campuses that operate under the kind of rule before you, controversial people appear, are heard by a very few people and leave without having made much impact on anyone."

WE RESPECT the sincerity of the trustees who voted in the majority against President Fawcett's recommendation, which was supported by the Faculty Council and the members of the President's Cabinet.

But their 5-3 majority vote settled nothing. It only signified that five Ohio State trustees were unwilling to show confidence in the university's president. They put President Fawcett in a bad position.

The vote guaranteed that unless the controversial speakers' rule now can be clarified or in some way made acceptable to its critics the controversy carried on most of the 1964-1965 academic year will be continued.

Two Sides

A "Letter To The Editor" in Friday's Review complained about supervision at the Thompson Park swimming pool.

Undoubtedly the woman concerned felt she had just cause for complaint or the letter wouldn't have been written. And it's safe to assume the park management can offer what it considers logical rebuttal.

Which brings up a point—regardless of who is right and who is wrong, such complaints properly presented serve a worthwhile purpose in many instances by calling attention to situations that may require adjustment.

Which brings up another point—the harm from such complaints lies in the fact that too often too many are ready to accept charges at face value—be it about a swimming pool or some other facility or some other matter—as a blanket indictment of the operation in question.

This is unfortunate. It must be remembered that for every critical opinion there may be an equal number of favorable viewpoints which have not been presented.

Protests of various nature should be received with an open mind, without too hasty judgment. In most cases, there are two sides to every situation.

Every Little Bit Counts

We are having another chance as Americans to watch one of the key functions of our presidency in time of stress.

We have watched this in two world wars and a depression.

It has been watched in other national crises that were even more severe — the Civil War, when only Abraham Lincoln's steadfastness held the nation together, the Spanish-American War when the United States threw itself off balance with enthusiasm for expansion.

It has happened often enough for a pattern to be noticeable, and now that it is happening again it is interesting to note that the pattern is the same.

President Johnson is being used as a scapegoat for everything his countrymen find disturbing.

He is being blamed for the irregularity of paper values in the stock market, inability of the United States to impose its will on Southeast Asia, the Chinese People's Republic, the Republic of France, the Soviet Union and on its own citizens still waving Confederate flags in the irreconcilable South.

OBSERVERS in Washington, who only recently were marveling at President Johnson's successful consensus, now are pointing out signs of dissent, as if dissent had not been long overdue.

The presidential image has changed from an outgoing, friendly man with a ready laugh and an endless supply of good - natured quips to a deeply preoccupied man worried about the undeclared war being fought in Viet Nam under his personal direction as commander-in-chief.

The easy acceptance of Lyndon B. Johnson by his countryman as the presidential understudy who became a star when tragedy felled John F. Kennedy has changed into carping criticism of an executive unable to drive out the demons by executive decree.

Herbert Hoover couldn't drive out the demons either. Nor Franklin Roosevelt. John Kennedy had begun to reveal his limitations before his death. Harry Truman could not cope with the Korean debacle.

Dwight Eisenhower had less than supernatural power.

Woodrow Wilson ultimately was broken by the scapegoat role forced on him in the disenchantment after World War 1.

And had it not been for his martyrdom, the now immortal Lincoln would have been just another U. S. president destined to bear an insupportable burden of recriminations shifted to his shoulders by his countrymen.

EVERY LITTLE BIT of blame counts In the burden an American president is expected to bear in a time of trouble.

No political figure who aspires to be president fails to understand that being a scapegoat is part of the job.

But, obviously, no human being can relish the role of scapegoat.

It only can be hoped that President Johnson understands why it must be this way and has the fortitude to bear his burden philosophically.

After all, in a parliamentary government he could be threatened with a vote of no confidence. In a dictatorship, he could be overthrown. In a monarchy, he could be deposed.

In a representative democracy, he must grin and bear it. There's no way out.

The Rains Came

The rains came yesterday. To district farmers and those with parched lawns Friday's downpour, while brief, was a Godsend.

It wasn't too long ago that Edwin Copeland, U. S. weather observer at Millport, pointed out that the corn and hay crops in Columbiana County had been hard hit by the drought.

Yesterday's rain should help some, although it is only a drop in the bucket in the total amount the good earth needs.

At least there's some reason for encouragement for those who have been looking to the heavens for relief.

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

My fears were realized when I up-ended a well-filled tray of food at a buffet dinner. I was still apologizing for the mess on the pretty carpet when the host dumped his tray next to the spot just then being cleaned up.

It is lucky I can't afford to keep any more dogs, because rarely does a week go by that the Twillery is not offered one or more dogs—everything from pups to St. Bernards.

I have found eight storm windows that can be left in all summer and no one notices they have not been replaced by screens. Now if I could find eight windows in which I could leave screens all winter, my household chores would be minimized.

I wonder when professional athletes are downgraded by a manager's snide remarks what keeps them from suing for slander and libel. Their ability to make a living is hurt, no doubt about that.

When I first made a comparison between Viet Nam and Korea, I was told my remarks were in bad taste. Everybody now is making the comparison and I suspect even the Pentagon must be wondering. Korea is where the United States is still pinned down after a truce in 1953—12 years ago this summer.

I wonder if other people have noticed too—that petunias have a fragrance that can become offensive in a closed room but is at its best at twilight in a flower garden.

I wish the Johnson girl's religion conversion had been kept confidential and personal, which I am sure she wishes, too. I feel apologetic for newspapering when it digs into matters I do not consider to be in the public domain.

Defense Tackles Personnel Problem

By Robert S. McNamara

Victor Riesel is off on a labor reporting trip to the Caribbean islands and the nations of Latin America. To give Riesel travel time a number of national leaders are substituting for him.

The Department of Defense today shares a personnel management problem which confronts many industrial firms: how do we keep abreast of rapidly changing technology while meeting the legitimate needs of our work force?

Changes in the extent of location of bases and installations, for example, are absolutely essential if we are to be responsive to developing technology and military planning. Yet it is also essential that the burden of adjusting to these changes should not fall primarily on the individual employes of those installations.

I believe the department, as a responsible employer, can and must assume the major part of that burden as a necessary cost of doing business in a rapidly changing world. And I'm certain that it's in the best interests of the government to retain in its employ as many of its skilled and experienced career employes as possible.

IN RECOGNITION of this challenge, we have initiated a series of far-reaching measures to ease the impact of change on Department of Defense career employes.

Among these are: phasing out bases over a period of time, normally from one to four years, which takes advantage of the ordinary attrition rate in the work force; paying the moving expenses of displaced employes to other locations in the Department of Defense; retaining original pay opportunities for a period of two years for employes who accept positions at lower grades; discontinuing appointments (or hiring only temporary personnel) in employment categories where large surpluses of career employes exist or can be anticipated; retraining displaced employes for new jobs and maintaining their compensation during retraining; working with the Civil Service Commission to find jobs for Department of Defense employes in other federal agencies; working with the Department of Labor to counsel, test, and refer interested employes to private industry; maintaining a computer - operated, nationwide referral system to locate the innumerable job opportunities which arise through normal attrition within the Department of Defense.

Dr. and Mrs. Dan Reynolds were honored with a farewell reception by the congregation of the First United Presbyterian Church Wednesday night.

They spoke during the prayer service held in the sanctuary and described various phases of their work in Pokwo, Ethiopia, where he serves as a medical missionary. Mrs. Reynolds, the former Jane Barbour, appeared in native costume. expect to vote on in their careers.

Some Republicans, however, denounced the program as socialistic, and predicted it would ruin Social Security.

The Senate adopted more than 100 amendments to the bill as it came from the House, increasing the first-year benefits total to about $7.5 billion compared with $6 billion when it left the House.

But Senate managers of the bill said privately many of these amendments would be dropped in conference. They said there was no question that a final product fully acceptable to President Johnson would be worked out.

As the final amendment, the managers of the bill presented a new scale of slightly higher tax rates to take care of the increases in benefits voted by the Senate.

The far-reaching measure contains many provisions besides those setting up the new health programs and raising Social Security payments.

It includes additional federal grant money to increase payments to the 7.2 million persons on the public assistance rolls, liberalizes the Kerr-Mills program of aid to indigent persons unable to meet medical expenses, and contains greatly increased funds for a variety of child health programs.

"The petitioners have accurately cited the new law," Judge Pryor said. "The prosecuting attorney, Floyd Tarr, has agreed that the new law has been accurately cited and full compliance had not been made in these cases."

Judge Pryor said it was apparent the law enforcement agencies and squires of the county were not aware of the new legislation.

Tarr told the court the prosecuting attorney's office had not been consulted about the preparation of warrants for the raids.

Judge Pryor said he will distribute copies of his opinion to squires and law groups of the county as soon as he has them prepared.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I loosen postage stamps that have become tightly stuck together?

A. —Don't soak them. Instead, lay a thin paper over them and then run a moderately hot iron over the paper. The stamps will come apart easily, and the glue will still be usable, too.

Q. — What I do when I have inadvertently added too much salt to food while cooking?

A. — Stretch a clean cloth tightly over the vessel and sprinkle a tablespoon of flour over the cloth. The flour will absorb the salt if allowed to steam for a few minutes.

Q. — How can I mend broken chinaware?

A. — Make a thin paste of lime mixed with egg white, apply this to the broken edges, press them tightly together, and put in a dry place for a day or two to harden.

Q. — How can I remove paint and putty stains from window glass?

A. — Use a wet cloth dipped in baking soda, and rub over the glass. After 15 minutes, wash with clear warm water, rub until dry, and polish.

Q. — How can I remove shine from woolen garments?

A. — By sponging the garment with a solution of one teaspoon of ammonia to a quart of water. Press on the wrong side.

House

for the administration, the House snowed under a Republican substitute backed by the House GOP leadership. The vote was 248 to 171 against it, with 21 Republicans joining 227 Democrats to help defeat it. Fifty-six Democrats and 115 Republicans voted for it.

The voting came after four days of debate and exhortation that reached an emotional climax when Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana, the assistant Democratic leader, pleaded for support of the administration bill over the milder GOP version.

Boggs said, "I love my state. I love the South with every part of me, and I love my country." He said a belief in the fundamental right of every American to vote prompted him to call for passage of the bill — "drastic though it may be."

Boggs' speech and his assertion that Negroes are being denied the vote in parts of the South won him praise from Northerners.

Another Southern voice was raised in support of the bill when Rep. Charles L. Weltner, D-Ga., said although the bill may be drastic, "the problem is drastic, and the need is drastic."

The House added a vote fraud amendment offered by Rep. William C. Cramer, R-Fla., that is also in the Senate bill. Adopted by a vote of 253-165, it would apply criminal penalties to persons giving fraudulent registration information.

Two other amendments were approved during early consideration of the bill, but rejected on later roll call votes.

expect to vote on in their careers.

Some Republicans, however, denounced the program as socialistic, and predicted it would ruin Social Security.

The Senate adopted more than 100 amendments to the bill as it came from the House, increasing the first-year benefits total to about $7.5 billion compared with $6 billion when it left the House.

But Senate managers of the bill said privately many of these amendments would be dropped in conference. They said there was no question that a final product fully acceptable to President Johnson would be worked out.

As the final amendment, the managers of the bill presented a new scale of slightly higher tax rates to take care of the increases in benefits voted by the Senate.

The far-reaching measure contains many provisions besides those setting up the new health programs and raising Social Security payments.

It includes additional federal grant money to increase payments to the 7.2 million persons on the public assistance rolls, liberalizes the Kerr-Mills program of aid to indigent persons unable to meet medical expenses, and contains greatly increased funds for a variety of child health programs.

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP) — A blaze in Defiance's downtown section menaced a business block here for a time early today and caused an estimated $10,000 damage before firemen brought it under control.

The fire, believed to have started from a cigarette, apparently began in an apartment on the second floor of a three-story building.

At the beginning of this century, only about 18 per cent of Americans were living outside of their native states, while today almost 45 per cent are living in states other than their native ones.

"The petitioners have accurately cited the new law," Judge Pryor said. "The prosecuting attorney, Floyd Tarr, has agreed that the new law has been accurately cited and full compliance had not been made in these cases."

Judge Pryor said it was apparent the law enforcement agencies and squires of the county were not aware of the new legislation.

Tarr told the court the prosecuting attorney's office had not been consulted about the preparation of warrants for the raids.

Judge Pryor said he will distribute copies of his opinion to squires and law groups of the county as soon as he has them prepared.

Sheriff Rodak was not present at the hearing. He was represented by Chief Deputy Arnie Durham.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I loosen postage stamps that have become tightly stuck together?

A. —Don't soak them. Instead, lay a thin paper over them and then run a moderately hot iron over the paper. The stamps will come apart easily, and the glue will still be usable, too.

Q. — What I do when I have inadvertently added too much salt to food while cooking?

A. — Stretch a clean cloth tightly over the vessel and sprinkle a tablespoon of flour over the cloth. The flour will absorb the salt if allowed to steam for a few minutes.

Q. — How can I mend broken chinaware?

A. — Make a thin paste of lime mixed with egg white, apply this to the broken edges, press them tightly together, and put in a dry place for a day or two to harden.

Q. — How can I remove paint and putty stains from window glass?

A. — Use a wet cloth dipped in baking soda, and rub over the glass. After 15 minutes, wash with clear warm water, rub until dry, and polish.

Q. — How can I remove shine from woolen garments?

A. — By sponging the garment with a solution of one teaspoon of ammonia to a quart of water. Press on the wrong side.

House

for the administration, the House snowed under a Republican substitute backed by the House GOP leadership. The vote was 248 to 171 against it, with 21 Republicans joining 227 Democrats to help defeat it. Fifty-six Democrats and 115 Republicans voted for it.

The voting came after four days of debate and exhortation that reached an emotional climax when Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana, the assistant Democratic leader, pleaded for support of the administration bill over the milder GOP version.

Boggs said, "I love my state. I love the South with every part of me, and I love my country." He said a belief in the fundamental right of every American to vote prompted him to call for passage of the bill — "drastic though it may be."

Boggs' speech and his assertion that Negroes are being denied the vote in parts of the South won him praise from Northerners.

Another Southern voice was raised in support of the bill when Rep. Charles L. Weltner, D-Ga., said although the bill may be drastic, "the problem is drastic, and the need is drastic."

The House added a vote fraud amendment offered by Rep. William C. Cramer, R-Fla., that is also in the Senate bill. Adopted by a vote of 253-165, it would apply criminal penalties to persons giving fraudulent registration information.

Two other amendments were approved during early consideration of the bill, but rejected on later roll call votes.

Rev. King Criticized By South Africa Radio

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—The South African Broadcasting Network has accused the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. of being violence-oriented and a Communist sympathizer.

It was apparently an official reaction to a proposal by the South African National Students' Organization to invite the American Negro civil rights leader to South Africa for a series of lectures.

A commentator on the network's daily current affairs program said Friday King's ideal of nonviolence "led to violence and more seems to be on the way" with King's tacit approval.

July 11 - 18

7:30 EACH EVENING — KENNETH ADAMS, EVANG.

We spend our summers by the Inlet. Eddie and I love to walk the beach, watching with fascination the wild churning of the water where the ocean waves meet the strong river current.

"That's my name," he said, when I told him the churning water was called an "eddy."

It's more than his name. It's a picture of his life — and every child's.

Growing up is a succession of crosscurrents. The influences of the home meet those of the school — the playmates — the community — the times. Strange, new experiences must be fitted into the child's ever-widening world.

Religious training is the surest stabilizing force in this turbulent period of growth. Strengthened by parental faith and example, a child discovers in his Church that there are values greater than whim or adventure. He realizes that his own and his family's standards are rooted in the truths of God. And he learns with the firm rudder of faith to steer a bold course—out of the Inlet's swirling eddies—across the sea of life.

Rev. King Criticized By South Africa Radio

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—The South African Broadcasting Network has accused the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. of being violence-oriented and a Communist sympathizer.

It was apparently an official reaction to a proposal by the South African National Students' Organization to invite the American Negro civil rights leader to South Africa for a series of lectures.

A commentator on the network's daily current affairs program said Friday King's ideal of nonviolence "led to violence and more seems to be on the way" with King's tacit approval.

7:30 EACH EVENING — KENNETH ADAMS, EVANG.

We spend our summers by the Inlet. Eddie and I love to walk the beach, watching with fascination the wild churning of the water where the ocean waves meet the strong river current.

"That's my name," he said, when I told him the churning water was called an "eddy."

It's more than his name. It's a picture of his life — and every child's.

Growing up is a succession of crosscurrents. The influences of the home meet those of the school — the playmates — the community — the times. Strange, new experiences must be fitted into the child's ever-widening world.

Religious training is the surest stabilizing force in this turbulent period of growth. Strengthened by parental faith and example, a child discovers in his Church that there are values greater than whim or adventure. He realizes that his own and his family's standards are rooted in the truths of God. And he learns with the firm rudder of faith to steer a bold course—out of the Inlet's swirling eddies—across the sea of life.

Pastor Returns From Edinburgh

Scotland -- Lovely, Unpredictable

By ROSE NUZZO

"With all its beauty, Scotland would be a tourist's paradise were it not for one factor—its unpredictable, damp cool climate."

So report the Rev. and Mrs. Russell Mase who have concluded a nine-month visit in Scotland where Rev. Mase, pastor of the Emmanuel Presbyterian Church, studied at the University of Edinburgh.

The trip was made possible through a Thomas Jamison Scholarship awarded him by the Pittsburgh Theological Seminary, from which he was graduated in 1961. He took leave of absence from the pastoral duties at the Park Blvd. church Sept. 23, 1964.

At the university, Rev. Mase did post-graduate work in New Testament studies and dogmatics or systematic theology.

The Mases lived in a rented "flat"—a furnished apartment—in Edinburgh, located on the Firth of Forth, an arm

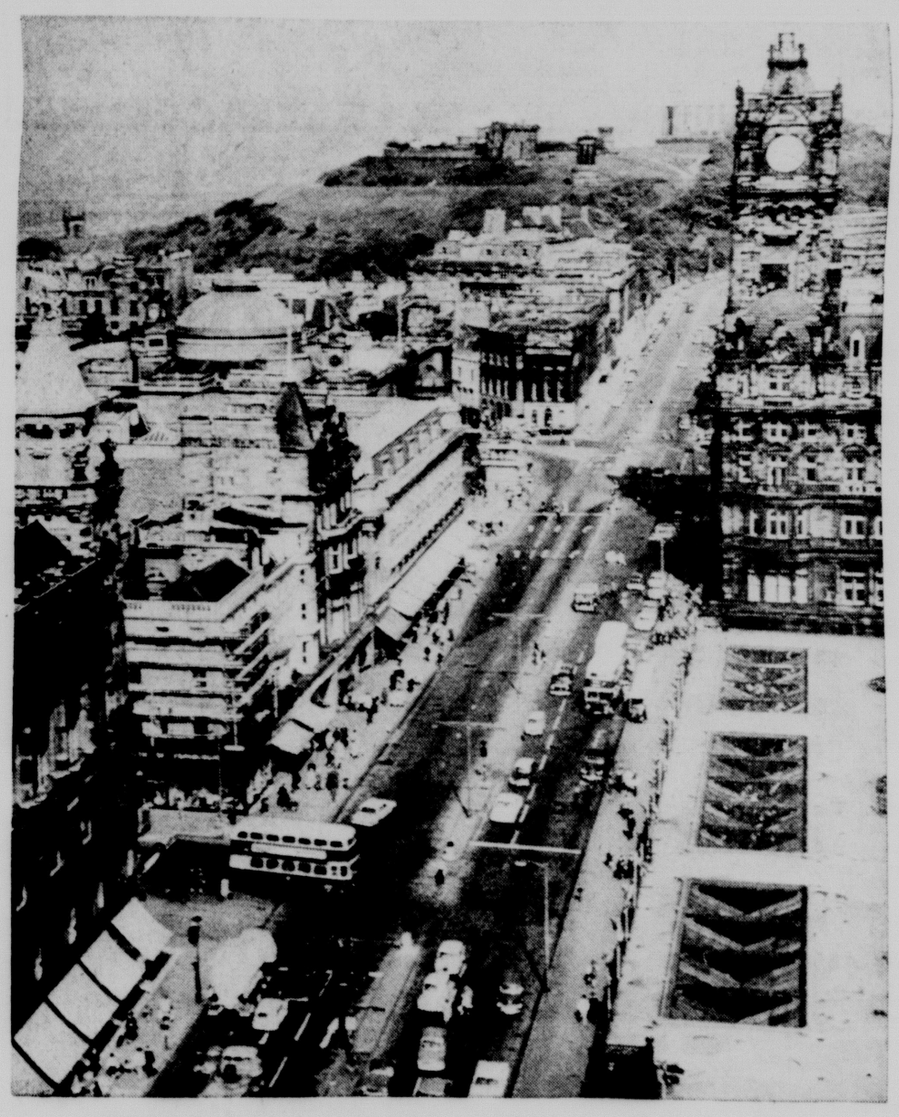
A rugged Scot, proudly playing a bagpipe, symbolizes the colorful traditions and history of the clans of Scotland.

Some souvenirs from Scotland are cherished by the Rev. and Mrs. Russell Mase as reminders of their stay in Edinburgh.

of the North Sea. Edinburgh has a population of about 500,000, but seems smaller because of the extreme density of population typical in British cities.

People live in close to the city center in four-and five-story apartment buildings, and suburbs are less developed and more compact than in the U. S., Rev. Mase remarked, explaining many families have no automobiles and the people depend largely upon public transportation.

In Scotland, a small country, property is relatively scarce; housing is in very short supply, and few people in a country as poor as Scotland can afford to own their own homes.



Double-deck buses and gothic architecture contribute to the charm of Edinburgh's busy thoroughfares.

Loch Ness is the home of the famed monster which local residents claim appears on occasions.

EDINBURGH is handsome with dramatic architectual unity — almost every building in town is constructed from the same kind of sandstone, with no frame buildings and only a few brick structures.

A sight that attracted the Mases was the main thoroughfare called Princes St., one of the most striking in the world — it has buildings only along one side of its long extent, the other side is occupied by the famous Princes St. Gardens. Overlooking the gardens, high on an enormous volcanic outcropping, stands the splendid Edinburg Castle — a remarkable sight, the Mases said.

Scotland itself is a beautiful but rugged country, with most of the industry is located in and around the Glasgow district west of Edinburgh.

To the north are the famous Highlands, home of the "clans" and the most colorfu' part of the nation, where the kilt is still worn and bagpipe is still heard. The scenery is breath - taking, and a favorite sight of the couple was Loch Lomond, just north of Glasgow. They also visited the famous Loch Ness, and though they failed to see the famed monster, they were assured by sober - faced natives that the monster does exist and makes occasional appearances.

The Mases were very well received by the Scottish people, who want to be referred as Scots and not "Scotch". Being hardworking people, their reputation for thrift should not be confused with stinginess, the minister and his wife comment. They are thrifty because they have to be—the average workingman's wage is less than $50 per week and the average wage of a woman working full time is less than $25 a week.

"WE FOUND them to be reserved and yet cordial, honest in all their dealings and especially dependable," the Mases reported, "and their word is as good as a written contract."

Scotland is a golfer's dream, Rev. Mase stated, and there seem to be courses everywhere. "But what courses they are!

"Some are literally on the sides of mountains and others are right along the North Sea coast, where savage winds and wind - driven rains demand all the skill a man can muster." Many Scot golfers consider American golf courses "sissy," and say—with an impish twinkle in their eyes—"that no one has played golf until he has played it in Scotland."

In Scotland there is a national church, the Church of Scotland, and while it has by far the largest denomination, Rev. Mase said that there are representatives of all major Protestant church bodies as well as the Roman Catholic and Anglican Churches.

Membership in the national church is not mandatory, of course, but most Scots do belong to it, and it is the most influential church body in the land.

Some aspects Americans living in Scotland proved very interesting to Rev. Mase and his wife. She thinks the major adjustment falls on the woman of the house—there is almost no refrigeration in Scotland, and only a few fortunate families own a "fridge." Consequently the woman has to go shopping nearly every day, because meat, fresh vegetables and other foods do not keep long.

SHOPPING IS far more a chore there than here, Mrs. Mase said. Scotland is still in the small store era — which is part of its charm but adds to the drudgery of the housewife. Instead of visiting a big supermarket, the homemaker must go to five or six different shops, and wait in line at each in order to fill her shopping basket with the day's needs. The merchants have colorful names as "fishmonger" the "fruiterer" and the "greengrocer."

"Prices for food and clothing and rents are only slightly lower there than here," Mrs. Mase remarked, "and are on the rise."

One big adjustment for Americans in Scotland is learning to live without central heating. Only the fortunate few have this taken-for-granted luxury. In a typical flat, bedrooms have no heat whatsoever; the sitting room and the kitchen have either an open fireplace, a gas heater or an "electric fire."

Like most of the American students, the Mases found one item indispensible—"we took along our electric blanket!"

Another luxury of American life is hot water. In most of Great Britain, automatic hot-water heaters are unheard-of and one heats, either by coal fire or electric "immersion heaters" the amount of water needed at the time.

THERE ARE many compensating features, however unlike much of the United States, transportation in Great Britain is widely available, comfortable and generally inexpensive. Trains are frequent and on time, and bus service is very good, both locally and on the long - distance runs.

The Scottish people take pride in their countryside which they do not litter. Lakes are crystal clear and utterly free of trash and the highways are clean. Homes are exceptionally well cared for on the outside, and even the smallest house will have a colorful flower garden. In fact, flowers seem to abound everywhere.

The public parks are models of perfect maintenance and tasteful landscaping, the Mases explained.

The Scots, who are a robust, healthy people, love the outdoors and spend as much time as possible in the open, despite the climate.

They love to hunt and fish and are also great hikers. On Sunday afternoons, one can see people setting off for a walk of several miles, usually accompanied by their dogs —nearly everyone, it seems has a dog.

As in the U. S., television is a major pasttime, the couple reports. The major television network — B.B.C.—has no commercial advertising whatsoever. It is indeed a strange experience to pass from one program to another with no sales promotion, they said.

"We encountered mainly favorable reaction towards the United States," they were glad to relate, "and the British generally regard us as their closest ally in world affairs. We did detect some dissatisfaction with American military operations in the Far East, but the President and Congress are generally held in high esteem."

THE DREAM of many younger Scots, they noticed, is to emigrate to Canada, New Zealand and Australia, members of the Commonwealth. This urge to leave the country is a great national problem and the drain of talented and skilled labor to England and the other countries, poses a serious threat to the hoped-for expansion of industry Scotland needs.

"Many Scots we talked to," the couple said, are fiercely proud of their country, and though they said they would leave it for economic opportunity, they would remain Scottish to their dying days.

"After living in that country even a few months, one can appreciate their love for this beautiful and historic land," the Mases said.

The couple also traveled on the continent, visiting France, Belgium, Luxembourg, Switzerland and Italy.

Later they went to the Holy Land and passed through Scandanavia and England on their way home to the United States.

The nation's monument to Sir Walter Scott, noted novelist and poet (1731-1832), is visited by many tourists.

To the north are the famous Highlands, home of the "clans" and the most colorfu' part of the nation, where the kilt is still worn and bagpipe is still heard. The scenery is breath - taking, and a favorite sight of the couple was Loch Lomond, just north of Glasgow. They also visited the famous Loch Ness, and though they failed to see the famed monster, they were assured by sober - faced natives that the monster does exist and makes occasional appearances.

The Mases were very well received by the Scottish people, who want to be referred as Scots and not "Scotch". Being hardworking people, their reputation for thrift should not be confused with stinginess, the minister and his wife comment. They are thrifty because they have to be—the average workingman's wage is less than $50 per week and the average wage of a woman working full time is less than $25 a week.

"WE FOUND them to be reserved and yet cordial, honest in all their dealings and especially dependable," the Mases reported. "and their word is as good as a written contract."

Scotland is a golfer's dream, Rev. Mase stated, and there seem to be courses everywhere. "But what courses they are!

"Some are literally on the sides of mountains and others are right along the North Sea coast, where savage winds and wind - driven rains demand all the skill a man can muster." Many Scot golfers consider American golf courses "sissy," and say—with an impish twinkle in their eyes—"that no one has played golf until he has played it in Scotland."

In Scotland there is a national church, the Church of Scotland, and while it has by far the largest denomination, Rev. Mase said that there are representatives of all major Protestant church bodies as well as the Roman Catholic and Anglican Churches.

Membership in the national church is not mandatory, of course, but most Scots do belong to it, and it is the most influential church body in the land.

Some aspects Americans living in Scotland proved very interesting to Rev. Mase and his wife. She thinks the major adjustment falls on the woman of the house—there is almost no refrigeration in Scotland, and only a few fortunate families own a "fridge." Consequently the woman has to go shopping nearly every day, because meat, fresh vegetables and other foods do not keep long.

SHOPPING IS far more a chore there than here, Mrs. Mase said. Scotland is still in the small store era — which is part of its charm but adds to the drudgery of the housewife. Instead of visiting a big supermarket, the homemaker must go to five or six different shops, and wait in line at each in order to fill her shopping basket with the day's needs. The merchants have colorful names as "fishmonger" the "fruiterer" and the "greengrocer."

"Prices for food and clothing and rents are only slightly lower there than here," Mrs. Mase remarked, "and are on the rise."

One big adjustment for Americans in Scotland is learning to live without central heating. Only the fortunate few have this taken-for-granted luxury. In a typical flat, bedrooms have no heat whatsoever; the sitting room and the kitchen have either an open fireplace, a gas heater or an "electric fire."

Like most of the American students, the Mases found one item indispensible—"we took along our electric blanket!"

Another luxury of American life is hot water. In most of Great Britain, automatic hot-water heaters are unheard-of and one heats, either by coal fire or electric "immersion heaters" the amount of water needed at the time.

THERE ARE many compensating features, however unlike much of the United States, transportation in Great Britain is widely available, comfortable and generally inexpensive. Trains are frequent and on time, and bus service is very good, both locally and on the long - distance runs.

The Scottish people take pride in their countryside which they do not litter. Lakes are crystal clear and utterly free of trash and the highways are clean. Homes are exceptionally well cared for on the outside, and even the smallest house will have a colorful flower garden. In fact, flowers seem to abound everywhere.

The public parks are models of perfect maintenance and tasteful landscaping, the Mases explained.

The Scots, who are a robust, healthy people, love the outdoors and spend as much time as possible in the open, despite the climate.

They love to hunt and fish and are also great hikers. On Sunday afternoons, one can see people setting off for a walk of several miles, usually accompanied by their dogs —nearly everyone, it seems has a dog.

As in the U. S., television is a major pasttime, the couple reports. The major television network — B.B.C.—has no commercial advertising whatsoever. It is indeed a strange experience to pass from one program to another with no sales promotion, they said.

"We encountered mainly favorable reaction towards the United States," they were glad to relate, "and the British generally regard us as their closest ally in world affairs. We did detect some dissatisfaction with American military operations in the Far East, but the President and Congress are generally held in high esteem."

THE DREAM of many younger Scots, they noticed, is to emigrate to Canada, New Zealand and Australia, members of the Commonwealth. This urge to leave the country is a great national problem and the drain of talented and skilled labor to England and the other countries, poses a serious threat to the hoped-for expansion of industry Scotland needs.

"Many Scots we talked to," the couple said, are fiercely proud of their country, and though they said they would leave it for economic opportunity, they would remain Scottish to their dying days.

"After living in that country even a few months, one can appreciate their love for this beautiful and historic land," the Mases said.

The couple also traveled on the continent, visiting France, Belgium, Luxembourg, Switzerland and Italy

Later they went to the Holy Land and passed through Scandanavia and England on their way home to the United States.

Some souvenirs from Scotland are cherished by the Rev. and Mrs. Russell Mase as reminders of their stay in Edinburgh.

The nation's monument to Sir Walter Scott, noted novelist and poet (1731-1832), is visited by many tourists.

City Couple Treated To Laurel Hospitality

By CLARA HALL

A week of my life I shall always cherish will be my recent visit to Laurel, Miss., when my husband, Lester, and I participated in a national "first" in which the Laurel service clubs treated 22 couples from the Northern States to a week "on the town."

When our local Business and Professional Women's Club received the invitation to send a couple down for a vacation in Mississippi, I considered it an individual club project.

But shortly after our arrival in Laurel, I was amazed to find out that the visit was planned on a wide scale involving the Chamber of Commerce and the Lions, Kiwanis, Rotary, Exchange and BPW clubs.

I SOON LEARNED what was behind such a project. In April, at a meeting of the representatives of the service clubs of Laurel, it was agreed that most of the nation had a distorted image of the state caused by those who come there to find fault.

It was decided the best way to remedy this would be to get more people from other areas to visit and see for themselves what the city and people were like.

Each civic club then wrote to similar clubs of the nation extending an invitation to a member and his wife or her husband. They decided on cities of comparable population and chose a nucleus of states from New York to Wisconsin.

Mrs. Mildred Sanders, president of the BPW club, drew Ohio and wrote to that state club for names of cities, similar in size, with BPW clubs.

She received word about East Liverpool and delegated her first vice president, Miss Mattie Laura McKinnon, to begin correspondence which ended with our acceptance of the vacation.

MRS. SANDERS IS credited with naming the project VIM or "Vacation In Mississippi."

In arranging the format for the program, the group took an inventory of the assets and liabilities of the city, suggesting the people to take an inward look and giving the visitors a close look at the life, customs and ideals in order for a better understanding of each other.

Lester and I were fortunate to be housed at the project headquarters, The Travel Inn, where the members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce handled registration.

Charts were posted up in the lobby where the visitors might sign up for the tours they were interested in. The hotel was very much alive with VIM welcome signs as were all the stores and business places. Many of the group were housed in private homes, depending on their preference, but I felt I could keep abreast of everything at headquarters.

We arrived on a Sunday morning at 5, caught a few hours of sleep, and were ready for the first delegation of BPW members to take us to church, naturally the First Presbyterian. Only 28-years-old, the Gothic structure was beautiful. The stained glass windows were brought from France by a couple who dedicated them to the memory of their son who died in early manhood.

LAUREL CERTAINLY lived up to the heritage of Mississippi as the "hospitality state" for we were entertained for the entire week with as much activity as we cared to share and were left up to our own resources if we desired to do something on our own.

We participated in almost everything, and of course Lester had to get some golf in, capturing two of the three awards in a VIM tournament for members of the Country Club and visitors.

A new experience for us was eating at a dining site called "Mrs. Love's Boarding House." No one stays here, but she caters to a group regularly each Sunday and the meal was simply "southern delicious."

Each evening, several couples took us out to dinner and we enjoyed the fellowship and good food. We learned much of their way of life and found we had much in common.

We were invited daily to the service clubs' weekly luncheons. I was free to attend the Lions and Kiwanis and my husband, the Rotary.

AT THE LIONS Club luncheon the chorus sang several selections, quite pleasing, and I thoroughly enjoyed the usual Lions roaring.

We were the special guests of Dewey Blackledge, a past president, at the Kiwanis luncheon. Introduced were several members of the Key Club, who certainly were important to the project for they provided transportation whenever needed.

We had access to private cars anytime we cared to go, along with several buses. Dewey was a part of a group which took us out to dinner one evening, and he arranged for an airplane ride over the city. Lester went but I "chickened" out.

Carroll Gartin, Lieutenant Governor of Mississippi, spoke at the Rotary Club luncheon, telling of the state's activities. Autographed pictures were distributed of Gov. Paul B. Johnson.

Our sponsors, "The Laurel BPW Club" entertained with a reception in our honor. Their members became very dear to me, because so many went out of their way to make this visit a memorable one. I enjoyed viewing their scrapbook, which took first place at the state convention where they won 18 first awards.

We presented them brochures on our city, a casserole from the Hall China Co. and a stainless steel spatula and brochures from Crucible Steel Co., along with some copies of The Review.

We visited a part of the school system which includes two high schools and three junior high schools, and were told all the buildings have been completely renovated or newly built in the recent improvement program.

AT THE R. H. Watkins High School, just three years old, we were shown color slides of the facilities. We visited the language laboratory with tape recorders in the individual booths. The auditorium seats 1,200 and the gymnasium is large enough for two activities to be carried out at the same time. The meals cost 25c at the cafeteria and there is a choice of meat and vegetable daily.

The faculty includes three full time counselors. The high school enters sports under the name of "The Tornadoes."

We visited Oak Park High School, from where Leontyne Price, the Metropolitan Opera Co. singer who received another national award just last week, and Ralph Boston, the Olympic gold medal winner, were graduated. This school for colored students has a progressive educational and guidance program and is well equipped. The sports name is "The Dragons." The superintendent and other officials said they plan desegration in the fall for the first and second grades, but this is a matter of choice.

Lester and I were the guests of Jay West, business manager of the Laurel Leader Call, and his wife, Helen West, women's editor. We toured the building, just three years old. The newsroom staff is numerically opposite of our group here, ten women and two men employed. They took us to luncheon at the Country Club where we swapped newsroom tales with the other reporters, members of the BPW. The Wests distributed magazine section cook books to all the visitors.

THE WOMEN OF THE VIM group were treated to a tour of the homes and gardens arranged by the Laurel Council and Garden Club, which was followed by a swimming and garden party. Beautiful heirloom furniture was displayed in the various homes. The formal city gardens featured magnolia, the state flower, crepe myrtle and other blooms.

The city is proud of its Lauren Rogers Library and Museum of Art which has a large summer circulation of books. They are known for introducing creative art very early to the children. One of the prize possessions is a 20-star flag. There are many art classes conducted at the YWCA and I viewed the work of the students on burlap and velvet.

Laurel, which grew from a sawmill started in 1882, is the home of the Masonite Corp., the world's first and largest manufacturer of hardboard for home and industry. William Mason, who accidentally discovered the process, once worked with Thomas Edison. An employe took us on a tour where we saw the original logs washed, bared of bark, chiped and pressurized into chips until the board is completed. The wood comes from the loblolly pine, a fast-growing tree.

ONE OF THE MOST exciting tours was the visit to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration on the Mississippi Gulf Coast where we viewed the second largest construction project in the space program. They assemble everything necessary to the Saturn project and ship it to Cape Kennedy for the actual firing. The area covers 142,000 acres and costs $260 milion dollars.

Other tours were taken to the Pascagoula shipyards and refineries, Natchez and Vicksburg ante-bellum homes and Civil War relics, and the state capitol at Jackson, where the group saw the much publicized compound.

While there, we received a deluge of mail from local well-wishers, especially members of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church. We also enjoyed hearing the national coverage of the event when Fulton Lewis, radio news commentator, told how the Laurel service clubs rolled out the red carpet for the Northerners.

THE CLOSING EVENT was the hayride to Stafford Springs Dude Ranch where we had a real chuck wagon supper, sitting on bales of hay around a large campfire. Entertainment included a talk by an Indian, tricks by a horse and some singing by a cowboy.

I distributed copies of some parodies I had written when riding to the coast, and thoroughly enjoyed being asked for my autograph after we sang to our hosts and hostesses.

This one was written to the tune of "I've Been Working On the Railroad":

"We really thank you Mississippi,
For such hospitality,
We really thank you Mississippi,
Even for all that hominy.

And when we are going back home
You can be sure we think its true
You are just as fine as any state
Right up to this date.

This parody was to the tune of "Let Me Call You Sweetheart."

Dear Ole Mississippi we just love you so,
Right here in young Laurel,
How can we help but know,
Your homes, your food, your people,
All just suit us fine,
Dear Ole Mississippi
Our memories shall be sublime.

After the excitement of being "king and queen for a week," Lester and I come to the conclusion that as long as there are people like this in our nation, God's in his place and all's right with the world.

Mrs. Francis Voss of Iowa City, Iowa, left, and Mrs. Clara Hall of East Liverpool relax at the garden cottage of the William Mason home in Laurel, Miss., after some Southern hospitality and refreshments.

Children hurt at school are not, as a rule, the school's responsibility, unless the school is at fault for maintaining defective or dangerous equipment would otherwise be inherently dangerous if used.

THE SCHOOL may have to supervise off - school - ground activities as when it allows students to go in private cars to a school affair where attendance is required and transportation is a school responsibility. The school may have a legal duty to check the cars and drivers.

Lunch - time activities are part of the school's responsibility. It must supervise the playground, stop fights, scuffling, or bicycle riding among students at play. Where there has been a violation of a legal duty, a child hurt due to lack of supervision may hold the school to blame.

As a rule, a child hurt by another child cannot recover damages from the parents or school unless there was improper supervision in the use of dangerous equipment. A slip of a bat, a badly thrown ball or another child running yours down is seldom grounds for holding the school to blame. It depends upon all the facts. Apart from the school, the child, of course, can be held responsible for the harm he does.

IN ONE case a 100-pound eighth - grader was hurt at touch football in trying to block a 160-pound seventh - grader. In the first - aid room his teacher saw the eighth-grader bleeding and sent him home. It turned out that the boy had a serious spleen and kidney injury.

The child and his parents blamed the school, but the court found it not to blame. According to the court, touch football is not in itself dangerous; the teacher acted reasonably in finding the injury and sending the child home. There was no negligence in the teacher's delaying the medical treatment.

A slip of a bat, a badly thrown ball or another child running yours down is seldom grounds for holding the school to blame. It depends upon all the facts. Apart from the school, the child, of course, can be held responsible for the harm he does.

IN ONE case a 100-pound eighth - grader was hurt at touch football in trying to block a 160-pound seventh - grader. In the first - aid room his teacher saw the eighth-grader bleeding and sent him home. It turned out that the boy had a serious spleen and kidney injury.

The child and his parents blamed the school, but the court found it not to blame. According to the court, touch football is not in itself dangerous; the teacher acted reasonably in finding the injury and sending the child home. There was no negligence in the teacher's delaying the medical treatment.

Action Slated On Ohio Bills

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio lawmakers will turn their attention to legislation involving youngsters when they return to the Statehouse Monday to begin their 26th week of work.

Measures due for consideration in the House would help counties battle juvenile delinquency and clarify statutes permitting school teachers to administer corporal punishment.

Rep. David D. Albritton, R-Montgomery, and others are sponsoring the delinquency bill which carries an emergency clause to make it effective upon signing by the governor.

It would authorize the state Youth Commission to grant construction and maintenance subsidies to counties for facilities to rehabilitate delinquent youths.

Passage of the school teacher bill, already approved by the Senate, would send it to the governor. Sen. Anthony O. Calabrese, D-Cuyahoga, and other sponsors said it resulted from conflicting court decisions involving teachers' rights to paddle pupils and protect themselves from recalcitrant students.

House Speaker Roger Cloud, R-Logan, told House members sessions next week may run through Friday, but did not indictate whether the extra day might be for final adjournment.

Most of the legislators foresaw no possibility of a session windup, due primarily to lack of agreement on a complicated school foundation program which is due for a big boost in state support.

The House gave its approval to another industrial development bill Friday, sending it to the Senate. Rep. Terry Drake, R-Crawford, and others sponsored the proposal which would create a $10 million rotary fund for advances to counties for the cost of extending water and sewer lines to accomodate new and expanding industries.

Democrats Cited For Delay Action In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG — Democrat removal of the effective date for an increase in the salary of the post of state school superintendent has delayed appointment to the post, Gov. William Scranton said Friday.

The Governor signed the bill granting the change in salary from $20,000 to $30,000 a year, but pointed out the measure will not become effective for 60 days because the House Democrats removed the date on which the boost would begin.

Gov. Scranton said he would ask the legislature to rectify the matter when it returns July 19. Anyone named to the vacant post would get the lesser salary under existing law, and could not be paid the higher salary for the duration of his office.

More Americans Help War Orphans In Viet

By CHARLES L. WEST

NEW YORK (AP) — As the war in Viet Nam grows, so does the interest of Americans in adopting children orphaned by the fighting, relief agencies report.

Legal red tape all but prevents actually bringing the children into U.S. homes.

But the various agencies, supported by public contributions, are caring for some 25,000 homeless children in Viet Nam, along with tens of thousands of other refugees.

A news photograph — like other memorable pictures of the child victims of past wars — did much to intensify Americans' desire to help. This was Associated Press Pulitzer prize-winning photographer Horst Faas' picture of a bandaged girl crying as she limped away from the Dong Xoai outpost where her parents had been killed in battle.

Offers of help poured in from all over America and abroad.

"I want to adopt that little girl," an Oak Lawn, Ill., woman wrote the Foster Parents Plan headquarters in New York.

"We have to do something constructive in order to overcome communism. Here is a victim of communism, twice a victim. I would be delighted if I could have that child. I wanted her at once."

The Foster Parents program enables an individual to adopt a child by proxy — orphaned or not — contributing $15 a month to care for him in his native country. Worldwide in scope, the program now numbers 4,500 Vietnamese among the children it helps.

An American in Saigon, Miss A. Elizabeth Brown, and a staff of 28 South Vietnamese locate the children to fill the 25-50 inquiries to Foster Parents each week.

The first voluntary agency to go into Viet Nam and set up a relief program, at the request of the U.S. government, was the Catholic Relief Services in 1954.

This agency now cares for about 20,000 orphans at four orphanages and a huge refugee camp. It is planning construction of three more orphanages.

Union Says 'No' To Power Offer

Representatives of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local Union 696, meeting in Steubenville Friday night, rejected an offer by the Ohio Power Co. in their negotiations relative to a wage increase.

Earl Fitzgerald, president of the East Liverpool local who was among those attending, said the offer rejected represented a 2.81 per cent increase, equivalent to 7 to 10 cents an hour.

He said the union delegates, from operations in communities which comprise the utility's Eastern Division, consider the offer "unfair in comparison with the scale being paid by the other seven major electrical utilities in the state of Ohio."

He claimed Ohio Power "pays its linemen the lowest wage rate."

"Regret," in 1915, was the only filly to have won the Kentucky Derby.

Ohio Debt Stands At $421.2 Million

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's outstanding debt stood at $451,210,000 at the close of the fiscal year June 30, State Auditor Chester W. Goble reports.

He noted Friday this was an increase of $70,045,000 over the previous year, resulting from authorization and issuance of $115 million in highway and capital improvement notes and bonds, and retirement of obligations totaling $44,955,000.

Goble, reviewing the state debt picture back to 1948 when Ohio voters authorized a $300 million soldier bonus bond issue and the Sinking Fund Commission issued $212,500,000 of such obligations, said the state has issued a total of $1,037,500,000 in bonds to date.

These bonds were for payment of soldier bonus to Ohio veterans of World War II and the Korean conflict, for capital improvements and highway construction. At the close of the 1965 fiscal year, Goble said, bond retirements totaled $586,290,000.

Detours Slow Assembly On Adjournment Course

By WILLIAM S. VANCE
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Some formidable barricades along the legislative route are forcing the Ohio General Assembly into a detour on its drive for adjournment.

It is conceded generally now that the legislature, aiming for a mid-July windup, will miss the mark by at least a week, possibly more.

Legislative foot-dragging in the House and political uncertainty in the Senate made speculation on a go-home date extremely iffy as the Assembly wound up its 25th week in session.

WHILE A 16-16 political division in the Senate has been blamed regularly for prolonging the session, most of the barriers at this point have been erected in the House.

Acting on orders from House Speaker Roger Cloud, R-Logan, committee chairman are concentrating on flushing out House bills while the Senate-passed measures, many of them major items, are held in abeyance.

Some observers here see this move as strategy directed at providing insurance for Senate action on some of the late-moving House bills. With enough Senate bills hanging fire in the House, representatives will have some bargaining power for their own pet bills in the closing days of the session.

A MAJOR disagreement among House Republicans over proposed school foundation bills has become the key stumbling block to quick adjournment.

When a compromise school financing bill finally does get out of the House, it faces all sorts of uncertainty in the Senate.

Sen. Okaley C. Collins, R-Lawrence, who has definite opinions about how the bill should be written, is confident his Education Committee can push a foundation bill to the floor "within two or three days" after receiving one from the House.

Whether it will bear any resemblance to the House version or whether it will have enough support to clear the political hurdle in the Senate remains in doubt.

ANOTHER BILL the House may want to reserve some bargaining power for is the administration's second big capital improvements bill.

It will not reach the House floor before Wednesday at the earliest. The $277 million capital spending bill then will face the prospects of some pork barreling in the Senate where attempts will be made to juggle appropriations in at least two areas.

Democratic Leader Frank King of Toledo vows he will try to double the proposed $7.5 million appropriation for a Toledo medical school.

Cuyahoga County Democrats say they will insist funds be included in the bill for a state office building in Cleveland which, they recall, has been promised by Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Beyond these barriers to an immediate wrapup, a 10th District Court of Appeals decision last Tuesday has thrown further uncertainty into the session.

—:—

THE RULING held that Francis Douglass of Cleveland, appointed by Rhodes to the Ohio Board of Tax Appeals, is serving illegally because the Senate has not conformed his appointment.

His appointment and those of 36 others have been put on ice in the Senate Rules Committee to bypass a confirmation vote and possible rejection in the politically split Senate.

Republicans have interpreted a 1961 constitutional amendment as meaning the appointments would be confirmed automatically at the end of the session if the Senate took no action.

But the court held in its opinion the Senate is obligated to hold roll calls on appointments made during the session.

Rhodes has asked the attorney general's office to appeal to the Ohio Supreme Court. The court is in recess until September and, unless the chief justice calls an extraordinary session, the case may not be decided until late fall.

Senate Republican leader Theodore M. Gray, Piqua, has indicated however he may begin bringing the names up for floor consideration instead of waiting for further court action.

Meanwhile, the Senate, like the House, is demonstrating no great push for adjournment.

Prior to ending its work for the week, senators spent more than a half hour passing a bill to require litter bags in all cars but providing no penalty for failure to comply.

This led Sen. Ross Pepple, R-Allen, to observe:

"This is a good bill. It's good proof that it's time for us to go home."

Officials Eye $10,000 Bid In Demolition

Mayor Merrill D. Hall and Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey took under advisement Friday afternoon a lone bid of $10,000 received for demolition of two city - owned buildings.

Art-Ran, Inc., of Youngstown asked $6,500 for razing a vacant brick structure at E. 2nd and Union Sts. and $3,500 to level two double frame houses on W. 5th St. which the municipality acquired from the Hazel Laughlin estate in order to convert the site into an off-street parking lot.

The bids were filed by Arthur Marinelli, president. He promised completion of the work in 30 days and said he would provide liability insurance to protect the city against claims. Marinelli also specified that all salvaged material would become the property of his firm.

The city has owned the old brick building at E. 2nd and Union Sts. for several years, acquiring it from the estate of the late Judge Frank E. Grosshans. It adjoins another city-owned tract fronting on E. 2nd St.

After the W. 5th St. buildings are razed, the site will be leveled and a blacktop surface will be installed to clear the way for parking.

The mayor and director, comprising the Board of Control, also took under advisement offers filed on 50 tons of salt that will be used for snow and ice removal next winter and on a year's supply fo gasoline, oil and other material for the use of vehicles in the fire, police, incinerator and street departments.

These firms bid on the salt requirements, with two of the companies submitting identical prices. Morton Salt Co. of Wadsworth, Ohio, and International Salt Co. of Clarks Summit, Pa., both asked $12 a ton for the material in bulk and 92 cents per 100-pound bag. Both specified the prices include delivery to East Liverpool.

The Diamond Crystal Salt Co. of St. Clair, Mich., bid $11.60 per ton in bulk. It did not submit a price on the sale in 100-pound bags.

Hays Oil Co. of E. 5th St. and the Standard Oil Co.'s Youngstown office bid on the gasoline and oil requirements.

Hays, distributor of Pennzoil products, said it would supply the material at prices current at the time of delivery. The current price on gasoline is 15.9 cents per gallon, plus 7 cents tax, for a total of 22.9 cents, it said.

Hays offered motor oil at 85 cents a gallon; diesel fuel at 15 cents a gallon and hydraulic oil at 69 cents a gallon.

Standard Oil offered gasoline at the posted dealer price on the day of delivery, less 3 cents. It said the current prices are 21.9 cents a gallon for regular gasoline and 25.9 cents a gallon for high-test. It offered No. 2 diesel fuel at 14.5 cents a gallon and "supreme" diesel fuel at 15 cents.

Prices quoted on motor oil oil were: Premex, $1.33 and $1.35 a gallon; Sohio, 60 and 79 cents, and Sohio HD, 64 and 83 cents, depending upon the type of container used in packaging.

The city specified it will buy 15,000 gallons of gasoline, 500 gallons of oil, 1,000 gallons of diesel fuel and 200 gallons of hydraulic oil.

Chester Puts New Truck Into Use

This new all-purpose truck was delivered Friday for use by the Chester Street Department.

On hand to inspect it were, left to right, Mayor Harry Abrams; Percy Willison, chairman of the department; Lewis Lyons of the department, Lester Bishop, superintendent of streets, and Jess Selmon, superintendent of the water and sewer department.

The truck was purchased from Wimmer Motor Sales of East Liverpool at a net cost of $4,156, which constitutes the total cost of $5,068.25 less trade-in allowance for the old truck. Wimmer's bid was approved from five presented at a meeting of Council.

Other vehicles acquired in the last few months include a truck used by the water and sanitation department, a fire engine and a police cruiser.

Local Lions See Film On Traffic Safety

Another in a series of graphic State Higway Patrol safety films, "The Unteachables," was screened for members of the Lions Club Friday noon at the Travelers Hotel.

The film depicts a teen-ager, a traveling man and a housewife as they pursue their interests before one is involved in a near-fatal collision and illustrates how breaking of common traffic rules leads to death.

Sgt. John Rizzo, who heads the Lisbon barracks, spoke briefly and answered questions.

The patrol officer praised the work of the patrol auxiliary for its time and effort in assisting regular officers, explaining the auxiliary worked 145 hours over the July 4 weekend.

Auxiliary members manned the desk and helped in directing traffic as patrol officers investigated 18 accidents during the long weekend.

Sgt. Rizzo was introduced by Christ Pallis, a member of the club and a longtime member of the patrol auxiliary.

Donald T. Duke, president, reminded members the Board of Directors will meet Monday at 8 p. m. at the home of George McCullough, international counselor, on Forsyth Pl.

Auxiliary Approves $3,500 For Furniture At Hospital

Executive Board members of the Women's Auxiliary of City Hospital approved an outlay of $3,500 for new hospital furniture when they met Thursday afternoon at the Metsch - Harker Nurses Home.

Police said the shooting occurred when Patrolman James E. Murphy and Terrance Clancy went to the home of George O. Holcomb, 49, when neighbors complained he was annoying them.

As the patrolmen approached Holcomb, the man drew a revolver and held it near Clancy's head, police said.

Murphy drew his pistol and shot Holcomb through the head when his wife screamed and threw herself between Clancy and her husband, police said.

Police said Clancy could not have defended himself against Holcomb because Mrs. Holcomb was between them. A police prosecutor will review the case.

FCC Asks TV, Radio To Quiet Commercials

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government will drop a strong hint to radio and television broadcasters next week that commercials shouldn't be so loud as to jar the listener out of his chair to turn down the volume.

The Federal Communications Commission will recommend in a policy statement that commercials should not be significantly louder than the programs they interrupt.

While the recommendation won't have the force of an order, broadcasters will be put on notice that the noise level of commercials will be considered with all other factors when they seek license renewal every three years.

Wagner To Wed Blonde Socialite In July 26 Rites

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor Robert F. Wagner, whose first wife died of cancer 16 months ago, will be married July 26 to Barbara Joan Cavanagh, a blue-eyed New York socialite.

She is the sister of Deputy Mayor Edward F. Cavanagh Jr.

The 55-year-old three-term mayor said Friday night he planned to have his elder son, Robert Jr., 21, serve as best man. Wagner said he wanted his younger son, Duncan, 18, as second best man "if I can have the both of them."

The marriage ceremony will be performed by Francis Cardinal Spellman, Roman Catholic archbishop of New York, in the private chapel of St. Patrick's Cathedral.

Wagner and Miss Cavanagh, 36, are Roman Catholics. It will be her first marriage.

The announcement came as no surprise. Wagner had been seen frequently with Miss Cavanagh, a tall, lithe blonde.

Local Lions See Film On Traffic Safety

Another in a series of graphic State Higway Patrol safety films, "The Unteachables," was screened for members of the Lions Club Friday noon at the Travelers Hotel.

The film depicts a teen-ager, a traveling man and a housewife as they pursue their interests before one is involved in a near-fatal collision and illustrates how breaking of common traffic rules leads to death.

Sgt. John Rizzo, who heads the Lisbon barracks, spoke briefly and answered questions.

The patrol officer praised the work of the patrol auxiliary for its time and effort in assisting regular officers, explaining the auxiliary worked 145 hours over the July 4 weekend.

Auxiliary members manned the desk and helped in directing traffic as patrol officers investigated 18 accidents during the long weekend.

Sgt. Rizzo was introduced by Christ Pallis, a member of the club and a longtime member of the patrol auxiliary.

Donald T. Duke, president, reminded members the Board of Directors will meet Monday at 8 p. m. at the home of George McCullough, international counselor, on Forsyth Pl.

FCC Asks TV, Radio To Quiet Commercials

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government will drop a strong hint to radio and television broadcasters next week that commercials shouldn't be so loud as to jar the listener out of his chair to turn down the volume.

The Federal Communications Commission will recommend in a policy statement that commercials should not be significantly louder than the programs they interrupt.

While the recommendation won't have the force of an order, broadcasters will be put on notice that the noise level of commercials will be considered with all other factors when they seek license renewal every three years.

Angels Sweep Pair To Knock Indians 3½ Games Back

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Milt Pappas now has an earned run average to go with his boiling point.

Both are among the lowest in the American League.

The fiery Greek pitched the Baltimore Orioles to their fifth straight victory Friday night, checking the Chicago White Sox 1-0 on four hits.

Pappas says he is learning to control his temper. That just might be partly responsible for his 9-3 record and 1.74 ERA — lowest among AL starters.

"I've mellowed," Pappas emphasized. "I know I still argued with umpires last year, but the occasions were fewer and farther between. It used to be when I didn't like something, I'd ask why — from the mound. It wasn't very diplomatic."

Pappas victory kept the third-place Orioles 4½ games behind the first-place Minnesota Twins, who ran their winning streak to eight games by belting the New York Yankees 8-3 behind the homer hitting of Don Mincher and Harmon Killebrew.

Twins Bomb Yanks To Build Lead

The Los Angeles Angels dropped second-place Cleveland 3½ games back by sweeping a doubleheader 4-3 and 2-0, the night victory coming on Marcelino Lopez' two-hitter, Boston walloped Washington 10-1 after the Senators took the first game 2-1 and Detroit nipped Kansas City 7-5 in 10 innings.

Pappas built his lifetime record against the White Sox to 16-4, getting the only aid he needed from a second inning run put together on Brooks Robinson's double and a single by Boog Powell. The loser was Bruce Howard, who allowed only three hits in seven innings.

Killebrew and Mincher slammed consecutive first-inning homers off Jim Bouton and Mincher later added a three-run homer in the seventh inning. Dave Boswell was tagged for homers by Elston Howard and Roger Repoz, but posted his first complete game in the majors and brought his record to 6-4.

Willie Smith kept the Angels in the first game with a pair of homers that twice tied the score before Los Angeles won in the ninth when Joe Adcock singled, stole second and scored on a single by Vic Power. Max Alvis and Leon Wagner homered for the Indians, each collecting No. 15.

Lopez, bringing his record to 9-7, got the only run he needed when Jim Fregosi hit a homer in the first inning off Sony Siebert, 9-4. The rookie left-hander gave up a double by Larry Brown in the fourth inning and a single by Chuck Hinton in the fifth.

The Senators won the opener in the ninth when Ed Brinkman singled home the winning run after a single by Frank Howard, Bill Monbouquette's error and a double steal.

The Red Sox collected 18 hits in the nightcap, winning pitcher Earl Wilson and Jim Gosger hitting homers while Dalton Jones stroked five hits and Lee Thomas four.

Willie Horton smashed his 20th homer in the sixth inning, then doubled and scored the winning run for the Tigers in the 11th on Ray Oyler's single.

Dave Wickersham, Detroit's 19-game winner last year, was one out away from his first victory since April 15 when the A's tied it in the ninth.

Reds Regain Lead In NL

Veale Halts Dodgers On Five-Hitter

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

For Jim Bunning and Chris Short, more victories now may mean less work later.

It was Bunning's turn to put that theory into practice Friday night as he joined teammate Short on the 10-victory plateau in Philadelphia's 10-2 triumph over San Francisco.

Bunning held the Giants hitless for 6 1-3 innings and wound up with a five-hitter, winning his fifth straight game for 10-5 record.

By setting a fast pace this year, Bunning and Short hope to pitch the Phillies into a lead in the National League that they won't lose. Such as happened last season.

When Philadelphia started dwindling away a 6½-game lead in the last two weeks of the season, Manager Gene Mauch called on his top duo almost exclusively.

Of the last 11 games, Bunning and Short started eight between them.

The present situation is different, however. Instead of dropping, the Phillies are climbing. They've won 11 of their last 15 games and have shot from sixth place, eight games out, to third place, three games out.

Elsewhere in the NL, Cincinnati climbed into first place again by defeating Milwaukee 6-2 while Pittsburgh stopped Los Angeles 4-1. St. Louis knocked off Chicago 7-3 and Houston trimmed New York 6-2.

The first hit off Bunning was Tom Haller's home run with one out in the seventh. Johnny Callison, meanwhile, drove in four runs with a three-run homer and a triple, and Cookie Rojas knocked in three with a double.

Vada Pinson drove in three Cincinnati runs, singling across one in the first and tripling home two in the eighth. John Edwards snapped a 2-2 tie for the Reds with a run-producing single in the sixth. Jim Maloney, 10-4, scattered nine hits, including Ed Mathews' two-run homer in the second.

The Dodgers dropped one-half game behind the Reds as Bob Veale stopped them on five hits. Veale, 9-6, held the Dodgers hitless until Wes Parker doubled with two out in the sixth. Pittsburgh's Robert Clemente extended his hitting streak to 19 straight games with a two-run homer and two singles.

The Cardinals downed the Cubs with the help of Tito Francona's tie-breaking three-run homer off Lindy McDaniel in the eighth inning. Tracy Stallard allowed Chicago only one hit until Ron Santo homered in the seventh. Mike Shannon doubled across two St. Louis runs in the ninth.

Joe Morgan's bases-loaded triple highlighted a five-run explosion in the second inning that carried the Astros past the Mets. Lee Maye followed with a triple and scored on Rusty Staub's sacrifice fly.

Reds' Pete Rose Fined By Sisler For Late Hours

CINCINNATI (AP)—Running a red traffic light cost Pete Rose, All-Star second baseman of the Cincinnati Reds, a $13.50 fine plus an additional penalty from the ball club.

Rose, 24, was picked up at 4:25 a.m. Friday in Newport, Ky., across the Ohio River from Cincinnati. A friend pleaded guilty for him in Police Court.

Manager Dick Sisler announced that the club also fined Rose for breaking training rules. Reports late Friday said the ball club fined Rose $250.

"I feel that Pete used poor judgment in staying out late and the fine should certainly teach him a lesson," Sisler said. "As far as I am concerned the incident is closed."

Rose did not explain why he was in Newport.

Browns Set To Report At Hiram Camp

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland Brown rookies and some veterans report here Sunday to the Browns Training camp. Other veteran members of the squad report Wednesday.

One of the veterans not returning this year is tackle Bob Gain, bulwark of the Browns' defensive unit for 12 seasons. Browns' owner Art Modell said today that Gain has decided to retire from football as an active player.

Modell and Coach Blanton Collier expressed regret over the decision by the University of Kentucky standout. Except for two years in military service, Gain has played with the Browns since Collier signed him in 1952.

Gain was praised by Moddell as an outstanding football player and individual. Collier called him "one of the great tackles of all-time."

The lineman was a first-round draft choice of the Green Bay Packers, but chose to play in the Canadian League for a year. He has played in five pro bowl games and was on several All-NFL teams.

Another record was set in the retail sale of both durable and nondurable goods which rose two per cent each.

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Police seized fireworks valued at $3,000 at a store here when they answered a routine burglary investigation.

Police seized the fireworks after telling Blum the building did not conform to city regulations governing buildings used for storage of explosives.

Thompson Is British Open Champion For Fifth Time

By THOMAS A. REEDY
Associated Press Writer

SOUTHPORT, England (AP) — Peter Thomson, the quiet Australian who never seems to sparkle but never seems to lose, set his sights today on one of golf's highest pinnacles.

The 36-year-old Thomson, who never chuckles and seldom even grins, won the British Open golf championship Friday for the fifth time.

Without emotion, he said, "I want the sixth."

The reason: Only the immortal Harry Vardon won it that many times in its 105-year history and Thomson has dedicated himself to matching it and perhaps even exceeding the target.

It's a pretty large assignment but Thomson had behind him such champions as Tony Lema, last year's winner, Arnold Palmer, two-time British champion, Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player and Kel Nagle when he racked up his 74-68-72-71 — 285 Friday.

Palmer, the struggling master from Latrobe, Pa., limped in with a 295 Friday after a final round 79.

Lots of others succumbed to rain and wind, sudden sun and greens that were treacherous. They included Ireland's Christy O'Connor and Welshman Brian Hugget, tied for second at 287, Argentina's Robert de Vicenzo at 288, Lema, Nagle and England's Bernard Hunt at 289.

Nicklaus, the overwhelming pre-tourney favorite, finished far back in the field with a 295 while U.S. Open winner Player pulled out after 18 holes of the 36-hole windup with a sore neck.

Thomson's triumph was worth $4,900 but it qualified him for a lot more. He now will play in the U.S. World Series of Golf, limited to winners of the British Open, American Open, Masters and PGA. The World Series has a value of $100,000, with half that as first prize.

12 Will Eye $5,000 Mile At Waterford

The Waterford Park Silver Plate mile tonight has drawn 12 entries, bringing together some of the best handicap and allowance stars in the area for a try at the added purse of $5,000.

Heading the list of classy campaigners is the entry of owner R. G. Green, of Detroit, whose Alamiga, at 116 pounds will have the services of Roman Sainz and College Date at 112 pounds with Floyd Green in the saddle.

Although it appears that favoritism will be bestowed upon the entry there are several others who merit close attention and will be hard to beat in the stake race.

Mickey Saffron's Bellow 2nd will represent the Youngstown Sportsman's Stable and is being saddled by trainer Robert Maffay.

The local hero, Roman Navy, who races in the silks of Louis St. Clair of Oak Harbor, Ohio, is bound to come in for a big share of the play from his many supporters and is solid enough to thunder to the front, off his past performances.

Another consistent campaigner who cannot be overlooked is M. D. Owens, Merry Time, who has several handicap races to her credit in West Virginia and Ohio.

The remainder of the field includes Confiscation, Jim L., Lady Iceberg, Bitter War, Buttermilk Pike, Cloud Chief and Besteater.

3 Colt League Games Slated For Weekend

Furniture's Cut To Fit Store's Slashed Prices

CLOVIS, N.M. (AP) — A Clovis furniture store advertising slashed prices opened its doors this morning to find slashed furniture.

Owners said vandals had broken into the store during the night and destroyed about $2,000 in new sofas and chairs, apparently with a razor blade.

The store plans a slashed furniture sale.

"It's not only a tough course to play but a tough course to walk," was Sam Snead's comment regarding the Bellerive Country Club course, scene of this year's U.S. Open in St. Louis.

Angels Sweep Pair To Knock Indians 3½ Games Back

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Milt Pappas now has an earned run average to go with his boiling point.

Both are among the lowest in the American League.

The fiery Greek pitched the Baltimore Orioles to their fifth straight victory Friday night, checking the Chicago White Sox 1-0 on four hits.

Pappas says he is learning to control his temper. That just might be partly responsible for his 9-3 record and 1.74 ERA — lowest among AL starters.

"I've mellowed," Pappas emphasized. "I know I still argued with umpires last year, but the occasions were fewer and farther between. It used to be when I didn't like something, I'd ask why — from the mound. It wasn't very diplomatic."

Pappas victory kept the third-place Orioles 4½ games behind the first-place Minnesota Twins, who ran their winning streak to eight games by belting the New York Yankees 8-3 behind the homer hitting of Don Mincher and Harmon Killebrew.

Twins Bomb Yanks To Build Lead

The Los Angeles Angels dropped second-place Cleveland 3½ games back by sweeping a doubleheader 4-3 and 2-0, the night victory coming on Marcelino Lopez' two-hitter, Boston walloped Washington 10-1 after the Senators took the first game 2-1 and Detroit nipped Kansas City 7-5 in 10 innings.

Pappas built his lifetime record against the White Sox to 16-4, getting the only aid he needed from a second inning run put together on Brooks Robinson's double and a single by Boog Powell. The loser was Bruce Howard, who allowed only three hits in seven innings.

Killebrew and Mincher slammed consecutive first-inning homers off Jim Bouton and Mincher later added a three-run homer in the seventh inning. Dave Boswell was tagged for homers by Elston Howard and Roger Repoz, but posted his first complete game in the majors and brought his record to 6-4.

Willie Smith kept the Angels in the first game with a pair of homers that twice tied the score before Los Angeles won in the ninth when Joe Adcock singled, stole second and scored on a single by Vic Power. Max Alvis and Leon Wagner homered for the Indians, each collecting No. 15.

Lopez, bringing his record to 9-7, got the only run he needed when Jim Fregosi hit a homer in the first inning off Sony Siebert, 9-4. The rookie left-hander gave up a double by Larry Brown in the fourth inning and a single by Chuck Hinton in the fifth.

The Senators won the opener in the ninth when Ed Brinkman singled home the winning run after a single by Frank Howard, Bill Monbouquette's error and a double steal.

The Red Sox collected 18 hits in the nightcap, winning pitcher Earl Wilson and Jim Gosger hitting homers while Dalton Jones stroked five hits and Lee Thomas four.

Willie Horton smashed his 20th homer in the sixth inning, then doubled and scored the winning run for the Tigers in the 11th on Ray Oyler's single.

Dave Wickersham, Detroit's 19-game winner last year, was one out away from his first victory since April 15 when the A's tied it in the ninth.

Reds Regain Lead In NL

Veale Halts Dodgers On Five-Hitter

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

For Jim Bunning and Chris Short, more victories now may mean less work later.

It was Bunning's turn to put that theory into practice Friday night as he joined teammate Short on the 10-victory plateau in Philadelphia's 10-2 triumph over San Francisco.

Bunning held the Giants hitless for 6 1-3 innings and wound up with a five-hitter, winning his fifth straight game for 10-5 record.

By setting a fast pace this year, Bunning and Short hope to pitch the Phillies into a lead in the National League that they won't lose. Such as happened last season.

When Philadelphia started dwindling away a 6½-game lead in the last two weeks of the season, Manager Gene Mauch called on his top duo almost exclusively.

Of the last 11 games, Bunning and Short started eight between them.

The present situation is different, however. Instead of dropping, the Phillies are climbing. They've won 11 of their last 15 games and have shot from sixth place, eight games out, to third place, three games out.

Elsewhere in the NL, Cincinnati climbed into first place again by defeating Milwaukee 6-2 while Pittsburgh stopped Los Angeles 4-1. St. Louis knocked off Chicago 7-3 and Houston trimmed New York 6-2.

The first hit off Bunning was Tom Haller's home run with one out in the seventh. Johnny Callison, meanwhile, drove in four runs with a three-run homer and a triple, and Cookie Rojas knocked in three with a double.

Vada Pinson drove in three Cincinnati runs, singling across one in the first and tripling home two in the eighth. John Edwards snapped a 2-2 tie for the Reds with a run-producing single in the sixth. Jim Maloney, 10-4, scattered nine hits, including Ed Mathews' two-run homer in the second.

The Dodgers dropped one-half game behind the Reds as Bob Veale stopped them on five hits. Veale, 9-6, held the Dodgers hitless until Wes Parker doubled with two out in the sixth. Pittsburgh's Robert Clemente extended his hitting streak to 19 straight games with a two-run homer and two singles.

The Cardinals downed the Cubs with the help of Tito Francona's tie-breaking three-run homer off Lindy McDaniel in the eighth inning. Tracy Stallard allowed Chicago only one hit until Ron Santo homered in the seventh. Mike Shannon doubled across two St. Louis runs in the ninth.

Joe Morgan's bases-loaded triple highlighted a five-run explosion in the second inning that carried the Astros past the Mets. Lee Maye followed with a triple and scored on Rusty Staub's sacrifice fly.

Reds' Pete Rose Fined By Sisler For Late Hours

CINCINNATI (AP)—Running a red traffic light cost Pete Rose, All-Star second baseman of the Cincinnati Reds, a $13.50 fine plus an additional penalty from the ball club.

Rose, 24, was picked up at 4:25 a.m. Friday in Newport, Ky., across the Ohio River from Cincinnati. A friend pleaded guilty for him in Police Court.

Manager Dick Sisler announced that the club also fined Rose for breaking training rules. Reports late Friday said the ball club fined Rose $250.

"I feel that Pete used poor judgment in staying out late and the fine should certainly teach him a lesson," Sisler said. "As far as I am concerned the incident is closed."

Rose did not explain why he was in Newport.

Browns Set To Report At Hiram Camp

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland Brown rookies and some veterans report here Sunday to the Browns Training camp. Other veteran members of the squad report Wednesday.

One of the veterans not returning this year is tackle Bob Gain, bulwark of the Browns' defensive unit for 12 seasons. Browns' owner Art Modell said today that Gain has decided to retire from football as an active player.

Modell and Coach Blanton Collier expressed regret over the decision by the University of Kentucky standout. Except for two years in military service, Gain has played with the Browns since Collier signed him in 1952.

Gain was praised by Moddell as an outstanding football player and individual. Collier called him "one of the great tackles of all-time."

The lineman was a first-round draft choice of the Green Bay Packers, but chose to play in the Canadian League for a year. He has played in five pro bowl games and was on several All-NFL teams.

Another record was set in the retail sale of both durable and nondurable goods which rose two per cent each.

Thompson Is British Open Champion For Fifth Time

By THOMAS A. REEDY
Associated Press Writer

SOUTHPORT, England (AP) — Peter Thomson, the quiet Australian who never seems to sparkle but never seems to lose, set his sights today on one of golf's highest pinnacles.

The 36-year-old Thomson, who never chuckles and seldom even grins, won the British Open golf championship Friday for the fifth time.

Without emotion, he said, "I want the sixth."

The reason: Only the immortal Harry Vardon won it that many times in its 105-year history and Thomson has dedicated himself to matching it and perhaps even exceeding the target.

It's a pretty large assignment but Thomson had behind him such champions as Tony Lema, last year's winner, Arnold Palmer, two-time British champion, Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player and Kel Nagle when he racked up his 74-68-72-71 — 285 Friday.

Palmer, the struggling master from Latrobe, Pa., limped in with a 295 Friday after a final round 79.

Lots of others succumbed to rain and wind, sudden sun and greens that were treacherous. They included Ireland's Christy O'Connor and Welshman Brian Hugget, tied for second at 287, Argentina's Robert de Vicenzo at 288, Lema, Nagle and England's Bernard Hunt at 289.

Nicklaus, the overwhelming pre-tourney favorite, finished far back in the field with a 295 while U.S. Open winner Player pulled out after 18 holes of the 36-hole windup with a sore neck.

Thomson's triumph was worth $4,900 but it qualified him for a lot more. He now will play in the U.S. World Series of Golf, limited to winners of the British Open, American Open, Masters and PGA. The World Series has a value of $100,000, with half that as first prize.

12 Will Eye $5,000 Mile At Waterford

The Waterford Park Silver Plate mile tonight has drawn 12 entries, bringing together some of the best handicap and allowance stars in the area for a try at the added purse of $5,000.

Heading the list of classy campaigners is the entry of owner R. G. Green, of Detroit, whose Alamiga, at 116 pounds will have the services of Roman Sainz and College Date at 112 pounds with Floyd Green in the saddle.

Although it appears that favoritism will be bestowed upon the entry there are several others who merit close attention and will be hard to beat in the stake race.

Mickey Saffron's Bellow 2nd will represent the Youngstown Sportsman's Stable and is being saddled by trainer Robert Maffay.

The local hero, Roman Navy, who races in the silks of Louis St. Clair of Oak Harbor, Ohio, is bound to come in for a big share of the play from his many supporters and is solid enough to thunder to the front, off his past performances.

Another consistent campaigner who cannot be overlooked is M. D. Owens, Merry Time, who has several handicap races to her credit in West Virginia and Ohio.

The remainder of the field includes Confiscation, Jim L., Lady Iceberg, Bitter War, Buttermilk Pike, Cloud Chief and Besteater.

3 Colt League Games Slated For Weekend

Furniture's Cut To Fit Store's Slashed Prices

CLOVIS, N.M. (AP) — A Clovis furniture store advertising slashed prices opened its doors this morning to find slashed furniture.

Owners said vandals had broken into the store during the night and destroyed about $2,000 in new sofas and chairs, apparently with a razor blade.

The store plans a slashed furniture sale.

"It's not only a tough course to play but a tough course to walk," was Sam Snead's comment regarding the Bellerive Country Club course, scene of this year's U.S. Open in St. Louis.

The Monument

The starkly beautiful Washington Monument narrowly escaped being a memorial to the worst in 19th - century bad taste.

Thievery, bigotry and apathy added to construction woes. A full century passed from the time a public monument to George Washington was proposed until its dedication.

The turbulent, little - known, often - amusing history of the white obelisk is recounted in a new book entitled George Washington: Man and Monument, produced by the National Geographic Society.

Work on the monument ceased entirely during the Civil War. Soldiers in blue drilled under the flag that flew over its flat top. Cattle grazed on the grounds.

Finally, a law was passed providing for government completion and maintenance of the monument. The Monument Society ceded the land and partly completed structure to the United States and Congress made the society a semi-official advisory body — a status it still maintains.

Construction was pushed by a dynamic engineer, Lt. Col. Thomas L. Casey, until the capstone was set on a blustery Dec. 6, 1884. On Feb. 21, 1885, Washington's birthday falling on a Sunday, the great obelisk was dedicated at last.

But 1888 came before visitors could climb the 898 steps to the top or ride the slow steam hoist up the 555-foot structure and peer through the observation room's eight windows. Since then, millions have made the climb or ascent.

DePugh Held In Kidnaping

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Robert B. DePugh, head of the Minutemen, surrendered Friday on state charges of kidnaping.

DePugh, 42, is accused of abducting two young women and attempting to enlist them in his militant, anti-Communist organization for the purpose of blackmail. He had been sought by police.

Before he surrendered, a search of DePugh's office and home at Norborne, Mo., and an office at Independence, Mo., uncovered arms, ammunition, a sub-machine gun, a mine and field equipment.

DePugh termed the charges against him an attempt to discredit the Minutemen, which he claims has a secret force of 25,000 members.

Lawrence F. Gepford, prosecuting attorney, said the two women signed statements saying that DePugh and a few of his followers held them captive for two weeks. The women said they escaped.

They were identified as Linda Frances Judd, 16, Independence, and Patricia Lucille Beal 21, Lake Lotawana.

Asked by reporters if he knew them, DePugh replied:

"I don't know anybody by the names given."

DePugh, accompanied by his attorney, was released on $5,000 bond. Preliminary hearing was set for July 20.

Gepford quoted Miss Judd as saying, "DePugh told us he wanted us to seduce men in the high government. He told us he would take pictures and tape recordings and use them as blackmail to infiltrate the government."

Bids Are Due On Road Jobs

The Ohio Highway Department at Columbus said bids will be received until July 20 at 11 a.m. for various highway improvements, including the application of a bituminous road mix surface course on 8.14 miles of Route 558 in Salem and Fairfield Townships of Columbiana County.

Incuded in another proposal, being offered as one contract, is the painting of existing guard railing of Routes 39, 46, 154 and 170 in Columbiana County and Routes 7, 43, 151, 164 and 646 in Jefferson County.

The department also announced a relocation project on SR 14A in Columbiana and Mahoning Counties.

The 10.5-mile work will cost an estimated $6.5 million. It will start on existing SR 14A and end on SR 11.

The existing facility has two lanes and is in fair condition. The improved facility will have four lanes.

No bid opening date has been scheduled.

3 Hunted In $30,000 Robbery At Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland police and FBI agents were searching today for three gunmen who robbed a Cuyahoga Savings Association Branch of $30,000 Friday while 50 startled customers watched.

Police said about five minutes after the robbery a Brink's Inc. armored car arrived with $50,000.

A Cleveland detective said, "If that truck had arrived during the robbery we could have had a real wild-west shooting match." The trucks carry armed guards.

Dispute Brings Strike At Duquesne Light Co.

PITTSBURGH — Duquesne Light Co. transmission and distribution workers remained off their jobs today in the Allegheny County area in a dispute over the furloughing of an employe June 29.

Workers in the western district, which includes a major portion of Beaver County, are not affected by the strike, which so far has not interrupted service, but has delayed maintenance and repair work.

An arbitration meeting is scheduled Monday.

Cement Union Strikes

IRONTON, Ohio (AP)—About 175 members of Local 186, Cement, Lime and Gypsum Workers of America, struck the Alpha Portland Cement Co. Friday, demanding a new contract to replace the one that expired May 1.

A Really Big Crash

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Police said a drunken driver drove a car through a dish display at a service station here today, broke all the dishes, then sped away.

In strawberry season, box turtles gorging on fresh fruit often become so fat that they cannot close their shells.

DePugh, 42, is accused of abducting two young women and attempting to enlist them in his militant, anti-Communist organization for the purpose of blackmail. He had been sought by police.

Before he surrendered, a search of DePugh's office and home at Norborne, Mo., and an office at Independence, Mo., uncovered arms, ammunition, a sub-machine gun, a mine and field equipment.

DePugh termed the charges against him an attempt to discredit the Minutemen, which he claims has a secret force of 25,000 members.

Lawrence F. Gepford, prosecuting attorney, said the two women signed statements saying that DePugh and a few of his followers held them captive for two weeks. The women said they escaped.

They were identified as Linda Frances Judd, 16, Independence, and Patricia Lucille Beal 21, Lake Lotawana.

Asked by reporters if he knew them, DePugh replied:

"I don't know anybody by the names given."

DePugh, accompanied by his attorney, was released on $5,000 bond. Preliminary hearing was set for July 20.

Gepford quoted Miss Judd as saying, "DePugh told us he wanted us to seduce men in the high government. He told us he would take pictures and tape recordings and use them as blackmail to infiltrate the government."

Bids Are Due On Road Jobs

The Ohio Highway Department at Columbus said bids will be received until July 20 at 11 a.m. for various highway improvements, including the application of a bituminous road mix surface course on 8.14 miles of Route 558 in Salem and Fairfield Townships of Columbiana County.

Incuded in another proposal, being offered as one contract, is the painting of existing guard railing of Routes 39, 46, 154 and 170 in Columbiana County and Routes 7, 43, 151, 164 and 646 in Jefferson County.

The department also announced a relocation project on SR 14A in Columbiana and Mahoning Counties.

The 10.5-mile work will cost an estimated $6.5 million. It will start on existing SR 14A and end on SR 11.

The existing facility has two lanes and is in fair condition. The improved facility will have four lanes.

No bid opening date has been scheduled.

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland police and FBI agents were searching today for three gunmen who robbed a Cuyahoga Savings Association Branch of $30,000 Friday while 50 startled customers watched.

Police said about five minutes after the robbery a Brink's Inc. armored car arrived with $50,000.

A Cleveland detective said, "If that truck had arrived during the robbery we could have had a real wild-west shooting match." The trucks carry armed guards.

"Of 2,000 people I was the only one who got a raise—that's one of the little benefits of owning the company."

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I "de-tarnish" some of my silverware?

A. — Add a teaspoonful each of salt and baking soda to each quart of water you put into an aluminum pan. Bring the water to a boil, then put your silver in, keeping the water boiling. After the tarnish comes off (a matter of seconds), wash the silver in soapy water, then polish with a soft, dry cloth. Clean the aluminum pan by boiling a weak vinegar solution in it.

Q. — How can I prevent my starch from being blown out of my freshly - laundered clothes when they are drying outdoors on a windy day?

A. — Try adding a little salt to your starch.

Q. — How can I make a candle fit firmly into a too-large holder?

A. — Burn down an old candle stub, or a half - inch from the bottom of a new one, in the holder. Then into this heat-softened mass in the bottom of the holder press your new candle firmly into place.

Q. — How can I remove a fruit jar top that is stuck?

A. — If the top refuses to turn, set the jar upside down in hot water for a few minutes, and the top should then yield.

Q. — How can I clean the insides of some glass drinking straws?

A. — By running some of hubby's pipe cleaners through them.

Q. — How can I apply enamel to brass so that it will stick?

A. — Before attempting to apply the enamel, prepare the brass carefully. Wash it thoroughly with any household cleaner that doesn't contain soap, then wipe down with denatured alcohol. This will insure your enamel's adhering.

Junior Editors Quiz on ST. ELMO'S FIRE

QUESTION: Why is a kind of lightning called St. Elmo's fire?

ANSWER: The strange and wonderful effect shown in our picture has actually been observed by sailors at sea during thunderstorms. Glowing balls of bluish light are, in this case, hovering at the topmost points of the masts of an old time sailing ship. Sometimes these may flicker around the yardarms or other parts of the ship. Similar effects may be seen on church spires or along the wing tips of airplanes, sometimes on the windshield or nose. In general, these discharges do not seem to be dangerous, as bolts of lightning are. Nevertheless, they may cause static on a plane's radio or blind a pilot temporarily, and so various measure's are taken on planes to minimize the effect. There is a highly dramatic description of these "corpusants," as sailors call them, in Melville's famous story of "Moby Dick." Scientists do not understand St. Elmo's fire as well as they do other forms of lightning.

Saint Erasmus was the patron saint of Italian sailors, and they regarded the corpusants as a sign of his protection. The name Erasmus changed to Ermo in common usuage and then to Elmo, and so people still speak of Saint Elmo's fire.

FOR YOU TO DO: Notice how one of the sails of the ship in the picture is being torn off the yard by the heavy squall. Yet these ships survived many such experiences. Look up clipper ships in an encyclopedia and read about them.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Let's Hear It For Big Dan

Dan (Hoss) Blocker may throw his 12½-gallon sombrero into the political arena, and he's my choice for governor. He called me first because Hedda Hopper was on vacation. Also I had suggested in a recent column that the GOP obviously was using TV's late, late shows as a new source for candidates, as witnessed by George Murphy's ascendency to the U.S. Senate and Ronald Reagan's intention to run for governor of California.

"BUT MURPHY was never even a good dancer," protested the big man from TV's Bonanza. "As for Reagan, deliver me from these professional nice guys, and he's one of them."

Being a Democrat, Blocker apparently feels called upon to defend his party and prove that TV does not produce only Republicans who can run for office.

"I'm not sure I am the man, of course," confided Blocker. "My master's degrees in political science and social science and my teaching experience could all be a detriment. There doesn't seem to be any place in California politics for a prepared man."

-:-

"HAVEN'T YOU any qualifications?" I asked.

"Sure, I have. Don't write me off completely," replied Blocker, temporarily overcoming his modesty. "I'm an actor, and I've been in 204 Bonanza shows. Just wait until those are rerun on the late, late show!"

Blocker believes his image as Hoss Cartwright in Bonanza is just about perfect for politics. Hoss is a great do-gooder, as he points out, and is sensitive to dumb animals and their frequent plights in adjusting to a society run by humans.

"In fact," elaborated Blocker, "the way the Cartwrights run the Ponderosa should appeal to lots of voters, especially in California. You don't see any poverty pockets on the Ponderosa, for example, because we run off any poor, starving families who try to homestead there.

"AND WE'VE integrated the races," he added in the proper stentorian tone, "with that Chinese cook. Some folks try to make something out of his always using the back door, but he likes to use the back door.

"There've been four Negroes in 2 of the 204 shows done in the Bonanza series, and we have lots of Indians. I tell you, on the Ponderosa we are high-minded barbarians who believe people are better led than dead. Our motto is, 'Support Your Local Vigilantes'."

The trouble is that life on the Ponderosa does not really square with Dan Blocker's private life. He campaigns for liberal Democrats in his own assembly district here and last year went to his old home state of Texas to help Sen. Ralph Yarborough win re-election.

LYNDON JOHNSON invited Blocker to the White House not long ago, but it's difficult to say if he would have the same entre there as Blocker the candidate as he does as Hoss Cartwright, heir to the Ponderosa.

Actually, Blocker still is undecided about running for governor in California next year. He hasn't checked in with Jesse (Big Daddy) Unruh, majority leader of the state assembly and would-be political boss.

"He may have something against fat guys," said Blocker. "You saw all that weight he lost himself. I still think I could make a good run against Reagan, though."

-:-

"WHAT ARE some of the things you'd incorporate in your campaign?" I asked.

"Well, first off I'd hire a flock of hourglass girls to parade and lead cheers for me."

"Hourglass girls?"

"I'd call them that because one hourglass girl would be worth 60 Minutemen," replied Blocker. "Then I'd get my wife and Hedda Hopper together so they could make a sensational film about Reagan. We'd never put it on TV, of course. I'm too high-minded for that."

3 Killed In 2 Crashes On Portage Highways

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP)—Three persons have died in two separate traffic accidents on Portage County highways.

Sheriff's deputies said an elderly Ravenna couple was killed in a two-car crash during rainy weather on Ohio 5 just east of Kent late Friday night.

The victims were identified as George Simpson Proctor, 56, and his wife Hazel.

The Highway Patrol said Bruce N. Drumheller, 17, of Ravenna, was killed early today when his pickup truck failed to make a curve on Ohio 14, a half-mile south of Ohio 5, and hit a guard rail and a bridge abutment. The truck rolled over and Drumheller was thrown out.

By HAL HUMPHREY

Let's Hear It For Big Dan

Dan (Hoss) Blocker may throw his 12½-gallon sombrero into the political arena, and he's my choice for governor. He called me first because Hedda Hopper was on vacation. Also I had suggested in a recent column that the GOP obviously was using TV's late, late shows as a new source for candidates, as witnessed by George Murphy's ascendency to the U.S. Senate and Ronald Reagan's intention to run for governor of California.
